

BLUES LOST THE FIRST GAME

TAILENDERS MADE FIVE RUNS IN FIRST INNING CINCHING THE GAME.

Teal Made His First Appearance in the A. A. and Won With Ease—Final Score, St. Paul 7, Kansas City 2.

St. Paul had no trouble in taking the first game of the present series of the Blues. They made five hits, two of them for extra bases, in the first inning, driving Goodwin from the box. Egan, who relieved him, pitched good ball, but his teammates could not overcome St. Paul's big lead. Teal, pitching his first game in this league, did well.

THE GAME IN DETAIL.
First Inning—St. Paul: Geier singled to center and reached second on Rowan's sacrifice. Wheeler doubled, scoring Geier. Davis singled and went to second on the throw-in. Flood walked. Dunleavy singled, scoring Wheeler and Davis. Meyers flied to Neighbors. Tiemeier doubled, scoring Flood and Dunleavy. Egan now pitching for Kansas City. Teal popped to Beckley. Five runs.

Kansas City: Hallman walked and Cross flied to Geier. Beckley beat out a bunt. Brashear forced Beckley at second. Neighbors out on a fly to Davis. No runs.

Second Inning—St. Paul: Geier grounded out. Egan to Beckley. Rowan out by the same route. Wheeler singled to right. Davis out. Brashear to Beckley. No runs.

Kansas City: Downey grounded out. Rowan to Teal. Kerwin out. Flood to Rowan. Sullivan flied to Geier. No runs.

Third Inning—St. Paul: Flood grounded out. Egan to Beckley. Dunleavy hit by a pitched ball. Meyers safe at first on Cross's error. Tiemeier struck out. Egan made a wild throw to first. Dunleavy and Meyers advancing a base. Teal fanned. No runs.

Kansas City: Egan out. Wheeler to Rowan. Hallman whiffed. Cross flied to Davis. No runs.

Fourth Inning—St. Paul: Geier singled to center. Rowan followed suit. Wheeler sacrificed. Egan to Beckley. Geier was caught asleep off third. Davis fanned. No runs.

Kansas City: Beckley out on a fly to Wheeler. Brashear walked and went to third on Neighbors' single. Brashear scored on Downey's infield out. Kerwin singled, scoring Neighbors, and reached second on the throw in. Sullivan flied to Dunleavy. Two runs.

Fifth Inning—St. Paul: Flood walked and Dunleavy sacrificed. Meyers out. Cross to Beckley. Tiemeier flied to Hallman. No runs.

Kansas City: Egan popped to Wheeler. Hallman out. Teal to Rowan. Cross flied to Dunleavy. No runs.

Sixth Inning—St. Paul: Teal bunted and reached third on Sullivan's wild throw. Geier walked, and stole second. Rowan flied to Kerwin. Wheeler flied to Kerwin. Teal scoring on the play. Brashear threw out Davis. One run.

Kansas City: Beckley flied to Davis. Brashear flied to Geier. Neighbors popped to Wheeler. No runs.

Seventh Inning—St. Paul: Flood reached second on Downey's error. Dunleavy sacrificed. Meyers flied to Hallman. Tiemeier flied to Hallman. One run.

Kansas City: Downey whiffed. Kerwin reached first on Meyers' error. Sullivan out. Flood to Rowan. Egan out. Teal to Rowan. No runs.

Eighth Inning—St. Paul: Teal out. Egan to Beckley. Geier singled. Rowan hit into a double play. No runs.

Kansas City: Hallman fanned. Cross flied to Wheeler. Beckley singled. Brashear forced Beckley. No runs.

Ninth Inning—St. Paul: Wheeler doubled to center. Davis sacrificed. Wheeler caught asleep off third. Flood flied to Hallman. No runs.

Kansas City—Neighbors singled. Downey singled. Kerwin flied to Dunleavy. Neighbors going to third. Kitson batting for Sullivan, struck out. Krueger batting for Egan, flied to Davis. No runs.

RICH COTTON BROKER INDICTED

Charges Connected With Premature Release of Crop Reports Against Price.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Theodore H. Price, for many years one of the most widely known operators in the cotton exchange, was indicted by the federal grand jury to-day on charges growing out of the sensational exposure of the sale of government statistics as to cotton crop conditions in advance of the issuance of this information to the public.

The indictments were not unexpected by Mr. Price, and he and his attorneys were at the federal building when the grand jury's report was presented, in readiness to give bond.

Price is charged with conspiracy to defraud. He was released in $10,000 bail.

FINE DECORATION DAY WEATHER

It's to Be Generally Fair and Warm, the Observer Said.

8 a. m. 65 12 m. 70
9 a. m. 65 1 p. m. 71
10 a. m. 67 2 p. m. 71

A fine Decoration day is promised by the weather bureau. The forecast is for generally fair weather, with moderate temperatures to-night and to-morrow. Reports from Kansas show clear weather at all Western stations, although there was some rain yesterday in the southeast part of the state. East of Kansas City also, heavy rain was reported last night. Kansas City was on the edge of the storm and got a light shower.

A HORSE SHOW OUT OF DOORS.

Elm Ridge to Have a Driving "Derby Day" To-Morrow.

Not since the days of racing at Fairmount park has Kansas City had a big outdoor horse show. But to-morrow afternoon all of that "ancient glory" is to be revived. It is with an open air horse show that the Elm Ridge grounds that the driving horse contingent of the Elm Ridge club has decided to celebrate its opening day. Roadsters, rimaboot horses, trotters, speedway pacers, high school horses, tandem and saddle horses and a Derby are on the list of attractions. And that list contains entries that promise to make the crowd something of a "Derby day" gallery. Tandems and high school horses are more picturesque and interesting in the open air with the sun shining on them, and the jingle of the harness is more musical, enthusiasts say, than the same thing given in a tank arena under electric light.

The real Derby event is a "stock yards Derby." There's no telling what a dark horse this race may bring out or what excitement may result. Many of the riders, Younger Denny, manager of the show, says are cowboys. The swiftest horses of the yards are among the entries. The event, at noon to-day, had a list of twelve.

On account of the number of entries and classes the show is to begin at 1:30 o'clock. A special attraction will be the educated horse Cleveland, owned by S. Watts.

PLANS FOR RIVER TRADE TRIP.

A Three-Day Visit to Towns East of Kansas City the Programme.

The Commercial club is planning a "whoop'er-up" meeting for the Missouri river and the boat line and, incidentally, for the extension of Kansas City's trade territory eastward. E. M. Clendinning, secretary of the club, is making the plans now. The idea is to have a big next week, probably at having a certain E. C. Ellis, Lawrence M. Jones and other leaders in the river movement will make short talks about the Missouri River Navigation congress, which will meet at Yankton, S. D., in the fall, and get memberships for it. The next thing is to talk about the proposed trade trip down the river to Jefferson City and back again on the Missouri Pacific, taking in all the towns along the river and the railroad. The tentative plans are for leaving Kansas City Tuesday night and arriving in Jefferson City early the next morning and visiting all the principal towns between them and Kansas City, arrive home Wednesday night. The expenses of such a trip would be under $35 for each person if sixty or seventy make the trip.

THE "KIDS" TO LOSE M'CUNE.

Judge of the Juvenile Court Won't Make a Judicial Race Again.

Henry L. McCune, judge of the circuit and juvenile courts, will not be a candidate for re-election, he said this morning. "I am loathe to leave the juvenile court work, in which I have had a strong interest," Judge McCune said, "but I have given the subject careful thought and have reached the conclusion that I must return to my private practice. I am getting on in years and I must have more certain means of livelihood than is possible when one must be subject to the caprice of the voting public."

The development of the Jackson county juvenile court, the Boys' hotel, the McCune farm for boys, and the detention home is due in large measure to the efforts of Judge McCune.

HIS UMBRELLA LIGHTNING ROD.

The Shock Dazed John Crick and Spoiled His Smoke.

Thankfulness that he's alive is the chief sentiment of John Crick of Independence to-day. On his way home last night lightning struck his house when he was within a few feet of it. It knocked a cigar out of his mouth and took all the feeling out of his right arm. He believes the only thing that saved him was an umbrella he carried that served as a lightning rod.

The roof of the house, which is square, was ripped open at the four corners and its "saddle boards" were torn off. Mr. Crick was not dangerously injured, and no other members of the family suffered.

ORATORY IN BUNCHES FOR THEM

Blue Township to Hear All the Democratic Candidates for Congress.

All the Democratic candidates for Congress will be lined up for inspection in Independence Monday night. The Young Men's Democratic club has invited the entire list of candidates to make their showing for the benefit of the Blue township Democracy from the same platform and while all the rivals are present.

Such an event in Kansas City would be of no great importance, but Blue township yields a power in Jackson county politics that is quite out of proportion to its vote and the candidates are all anxious about the meeting.

THE DECORATION DAY EVENTS.

A Horse Show, a Regatta and a Free Band Concert at Swope.

Decoration day was set aside in memory of the soldier dead, but comparatively few find their way to the cemeteries on that day. Those who look upon Decoration day as a holiday and seek pleasure will have the following events to choose from to-morrow:

Horse show at Elm Ridge, 1:30 p. m. Regatta on the Blue of the Canoe club, 2 p. m.

Afternoon, band concert at Swope park. Special attractions at all the amusement parks.

One Delivery of Mail To-Morrow.

The postoffice will make one complete delivery of mail to-morrow. The carriers will leave the postoffice and the substations at 8:15 o'clock in the morning. The general delivery department and the stamp division will be open all day. The money order division will be closed all day.

A CITY'S WELFARE AT STAKE

THE ISSUE IN KANSAS CITY, KAS., IS GOOD GOVERNMENT OR BAD.

Wesley Ash, the Commissioner From Des Moines, Tells the Workers at Swift's How the New Plan Makes It Hard for the Corporations.

COMMISSION PROGRAMME TO-NIGHT.
6 p. m.—Mr. Ash will address negroes in storeroom at Ninth street and Washington avenue.

7 p. m.—Reception to organized labor in Mercantile club rooms, Sixth street and Minnesota avenue.

8 p. m.—Big mass meeting in Auditorium hall, Sixth street and Minnesota avenue. Mr. Ash and Mr. MacVicar will speak.

"This commission plan isn't a silk stocking affair—it's a plan to have all men represented in all parts of the city government. That means the corporations cannot control the election. It's easy for a corporation to elect a man when he's run-

The Chance of Kansas City, Kas.

A large part of the city of Chelsea, Mass., a town of 40,000 inhabitants, burned recently.

In the crisis the old city government broke down. The people appealed to the state legislature for help. When things had to be done they could not depend on the system of checks and balances. The legislature responded by giving them the commission form of government.

Where municipal government is inefficient and things are in a bad way cities instinctively turn to the do-things plan—Galveston, Leavenworth and Des Moines are examples.

Tuesday will be the day of opportunity for Kansas City, Kas.

ning in only one ward. Let him be voted for at large by all the people and it's not so easy for the corporation."

The 300 employees at the Swift packing plant cheered at noon to-day when Wesley Ash, the commissioner from Des Moines, Ia., spoke of the foregoing feature of the commission-plan of government. Mr. Ash held the attention of his audience from the first word. He was interrupted frequently by the exclamations "good" and "that's right." At the close the applause was spirited.

A WARNING AGAINST CORPORATIONS.
"I'm a coal miner," Mr. Ash said. "People laughed at me when I said I was a candidate for the office of commissioner. An opponent was a college professor, and he laughed at me. But I was elected and I'm going to make everybody in the city like me for the work I do. It's the responsibility that the system gives a man that makes a commissioner desire to make a record."

"I understand an attorney for the Metropolitan Street Railway company from Kansas City, Mo., is to speak in this city to-night in opposition to the commission plan. Boys, if you stand for letting corporations dictate how you shall vote, you don't wear the kind of clothes for me. Are you going to let them do it?"

THE BOOKS OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.
"Before a purchase is made by one of the commissioners for his department," he said, "he must receive the consent of all the other commissioners. Then that purchase must be open to inspection and its price made known to the public for six days before the bill can be paid. How many of you men know what the city is purchasing and what price is being paid for those purchases? I will venture to say you could not find out even at the city hall."

"The books of each of our departments is open to public inspection at any time of the day. That does not mean that the public may have only the total expenditure. It means in my department and in all the other departments that the public may see a list of purchases and the prices. I could tell you in five minutes what the total expenditures have been in my department for the time I have been commissioner. We are trying to run our departments as anyone would a business corporation."

ALL THEIR TIME TO THE CITY.
"The commissioners meet every day at 2 o'clock to transact business. Anyone who has business with the city may consult the commissioners at that time. The commissioners spend their entire time working for the city. Being a commissioner is a big responsibility. I average twelve to fifteen hours a day."

"I understand you men of Armourdale fear that under the commission plan you will have no representative from this part of the city. That is all nonsense. I come from East Des Moines, which is to Des Moines what Armourdale is to Kansas City. It is filled with working-men. In the election for commissioners the mayor as well as myself were elected from that part of the city."

THE MENACE OF THE WARD BOSS.
"I tell you it is nonsense to believe you will have no representation under the new plan. You will have better representation for your part of the city and all parts of the city instead of two men as you have now, each with both hands tied. And I want to tell you that you would have a better chance to get good men to represent you, for under the present system a ward boss has too many opportunities."

EFFICIENCY ITS CHIEF AIM.
John MacVicar Tells of the Commission Plan's Success in Des Moines.

No more appropriate title could have been found for the speech that John MacVicar of Des Moines made before the City club at noon to-day in the Sexton hotel than "The Search for an Efficient Form of Government." If the club expected simply a eulogy of the commission system it was disappointed. The man who has twice been mayor of his city under the old regime and now is commissioner under the new did not come as a propagandist.

"We have tried the new form only sixty days," he said. "But in that time we have seen much to encourage us in the belief that we have made no mistake in making the change. For one thing, the commission plan means a non-partisan election; for another, the centering of responsibility in such a way as to mean efficiency. Efficiency is what we are all striving for. The commission plan provides for a few high salaried officers, instead of two dozen poorly paid men, none of whom may feel very keenly his responsibility. The national government pays big salaries to efficient men when a canal is to be dug. Why should not a city pay good salaries for efficient work as well?

Governor Hughes of New York, in a speech made not long ago, said that the three essentials of government were leadership, public opinion and expert service. The commission plan provides for all of these things. By paying adequate salaries it makes men who are leaders and experts willing to give their time to public service. And in no form of government that we know of is public opinion so well represented than in the commission form. Public sentiment, we believe in Des Moines, is the most potent factor in municipal government."

For twenty years John MacVicar has been active in politics and the study of legislation and government. He spent one year in New York city investigating conditions there and declared afterward that the bureau of municipal research—maintained in connection with the City club of New York by a fund of $75,000 a year—was one of the greatest stimulants to efficiency. This bureau is made up of expert accountants, who, at any time they choose, may examine the books of any department of public service. The secretary of this bureau, William Haller, says that "the modern Diogenes searches not for honest public officials but for efficient officials." The bureau acts as a cash register's report. Mr. MacVicar cited instances in which men were dismissed simply because the work in their departments was not up to standard.

"Perhaps the solution of Kansas City's situation on the Missouri side is to have an upper house become the legislative and governing body and the lower house a bureau of accounting," he said. "That would give you an efficient commission government and circumvent the lawyers, who say that the two 'houses' must be retained. On the Kansas side of the state line there is only one thing necessary—vote!"

IN AUDITORIUM HALL TO-NIGHT.

Both the Des Moines Commissioners to Address a Mass Meeting.

Wesley Ash and John MacVicar, the two commissioners from Des Moines, are to be the speakers at the big meeting of the Commission plan party to be held to-night in the Auditorium hall, Sixth street and Minnesota avenue. No other meetings have been planned in the city for to-night, so all who desire may hear the Des Moines commissioners tell how the new plan works in that city. It is to be the largest mass meeting of the campaign.

FIRE IN A PACKING PLANT.

Weak Water Pressure a Handicap at the American Dressed Beef Plant.

Handicapped by weak water pressure, firemen were unable to extinguish a fire in the boiler room of the American Dressed Beef and Provision company, on the Kaw river at Fifth street, in Armourdale, this morning, until the plant had been damaged to the extent of $15,000. Three companies of Kansas City, Kas., firemen and two Missouri companies by hard fighting succeeded in confining the fire to the boiler room.

The walls and roof of the boiler room, 40x70 feet, were destroyed. Several large steam pipes were broken and the brick walls under the boilers were damaged.

T. P. Ruddy, general manager of the company, said this morning that within forty-eight hours the plant would again be in operation.

John McNarrey, chief of the Kansas City, Kas., fire department, was standing on the roof of the boiler room when it fell. By jumping nearly ten feet to one side he escaped falling into the burning timbers on top of the boilers.

IT'S DICKEY VERSUS CASEY.

Lines Already Drawn in the Race for the State Senate From the Fifth.

The senatorial contest in the north half of Jackson county—the Fifth senatorial district—is made already, although there is still a week in which to file the names of the candidates.

The Democrats, according to T. J. Pendergast, have agreed on Michael E. Casey and there is to be no contest. The Republicans have already agreed on Fred L. Dickey as their candidate and under this arrangement the senatorial tickets for the district might be called ready for the final race. Mr. Dickey is now general manager of the big clay manufacturing business of which his brother, Walter S. Dickey, is the head. Mr. Casey has been a member of the lower house of the legislature three times.

BETTER TIMES FOR THE FRISCO.

Many Idle Cars Will Be Called Into Service in a Short Time.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 29.—Information received at the general offices of the Frisco here indicates that the road will soon be calling into service hundreds of cars that have been idle on sidetracks at various points along the system for months. The Frisco expects to handle 1,500 car loads of cattle from the Southwest this season. The officials expect to handle 600 car loads of potatoes on the central and southwestern routes. The opening of the mines in Arkansas and Oklahoma will mean shipments of 350 car loads of coal daily, putting many idle train crews back to work.

BATTERY B TO CAMP AT SWOPE.

A Parade To-Morrow Morning and a Drill Later in the Park.

Light Battery B of the Kansas City artillery will march on the downtown streets to-morrow morning and then go to Swope park, where it will camp until Sunday night. Drills will be held at 5 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the park.

WOMAN ARRAIGNED FOR USURY.

A Bond of $600 Asked in the Case of Miss M. Campbell.

Miss M. Campbell, employed by D. H. Tolman, a money lender, was arraigned this morning in the criminal court on the charge of usury. She was released on a bond of $600. She was arrested on the complaint of Lawrence Dilton, an employee of a department store.

DIE OF HEAT IN PITTSBURGH.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 29.—Owing to the excessive heat ten persons have died here since midnight last night. Many are prostrated. The mercury registers 88 degrees.

A ONE MAN FILIBUSTER ON

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE IS TRYING TO IMPEDE THE CURRENCY BILL.

It Is Believed That Senator Stone of Missouri Will Aid the Wisconsin Man—Aldrich Helped the Vice President in Parliamentary Pinches.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—It was made evident soon after the Senate convened to-day that Senator La Follette would do all in his power to obstruct the passage of the compromise currency bill, and there was ground for the report that he had succeeded in obtaining assurance of help from Senator Stone of Missouri, who had but just returned from his home.

Before 2 o'clock Mr. La Follette had made two demands for a quorum and when, upon the third demand, the Vice President refused to recognize him because Senator Culberson had the floor and declined to yield, he raised a point of order to the effect that the presiding officer should have the roll called when there was a demand for a quorum, even in the face of a declaration by the senator occupying the floor to yield for that purpose.

THE VICE PRESIDENT AGAINST HIM.
The Vice President held against him the Wisconsin senator, and the latter announced his intention to appeal from the chair's decision. He then entered upon an argument in support of his contention; and it was evident that the filibuster, small though it be in numbers, was on.

Mr. La Follette showed the greatest indignation and resorted to every expedient to carry his point. The vote against him was 32 to 14.

Mr. Gore insisted that the vote showed one less than a quorum, and the Vice President announced that a quorum was present in spite of the vote.

"Does the presiding officer intend to establish a precedent of counting a quorum?" inquired Mr. La Follette, suggesting that that action might come back to the Republican side.

Vice President Taft, in the chair, read from a decision by Allen G. Thurman, June 19, 1879, when he announced that there was a quorum present, although not shown by the vote.

Throughout the colloquy Mr. Aldrich was on his feet approving the ruling, and a large number of senators were present on the Republican side.

THEN HE DEMANDED A ROLL CALL.
After a speech by Senator Culberson attacking the administration, Senator La Follette secured the floor. His first move was to demand another roll call. This showed fifty-seven senators present.

Then he began to talk, saying that he would conserve his strength as much as possible as he was just recovering from a protracted illness. He had a small pile of documents and several books on the desk before him. Folding his arms and supporting his weight on the arm of his chair, he spoke slowly.

The roll call, a bond feature of the bill, as brought back in the conference report, was the chief object of his remarks. On the Democratic side a score of senators remained in their places and gave careful attention. On the Republican side most of the senators who remained in the chamber occupied themselves in various ways, not more than half a dozen of them appearing to pay much attention to the Wisconsin senator.

ANXIOUS TO HAVE ALDRICH HEAR.
Mr. La Follette, in mild tones and with a great show of politeness, suggested that he would like to have the senator from Rhode Island hear what he had to say, and if he could not hear him he could "draw him."

Before he had spoken half an hour Mr. La Follette had made two demands for a roll call. Senator Culberson, upon whom the Wisconsin senator depended as his only assistant in the filibuster, was present for only a few minutes and it was understood that he was preparing a speech against the bill.

Every time the attention of Senator Aldrich was diverted for a moment the Wisconsin senator would complain and insisted that the Rhode Island senator should keep his eyes fixed upon him.

A long and complicated controversy then occurred between Mr. La Follette and Mr. Aldrich on the exact status of railroad bonds and stocks so far as their possible use as security for a currency or emergency currency. Mr. La Follette wished to know whether railroad bonds and stocks would be used as a basis for a currency issue. Mr. Aldrich said he did not believe they would be.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—At 4:15 o'clock this afternoon Senator La Follette's clerk was excluded from the Senate chamber on a point of order made by Senator Gallinger, who said that under the rules no clerk of a senator could remain in the chamber for more than two hours unless engaged in the transaction of actual business. The clerk had been constantly keeping Mr. La Follette supplied with information as to the number of senators present, which aided him materially in making the point of no quorum, and other senators resented this interference.

AN EASTERN FLYER WRECKED.

The Observation Car of a B. & O. Train Went Over an Embankment.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 29.—The observation parlor car of the Royal Blue flyer on the Baltimore & Ohio road plunged over a high embankment near here at noon to-day. It is reported that twenty-three passengers are injured, three of them probably fatally. A special train was made up here and sent to the scene of the wreck. The car left the rails at a sharp curve. It was filled with passengers.

Those believed to be dangerously injured are S. H. Johnson of Connelville, Pa.; L. R. Sanford of La Grange, Ill., and Mrs. A. V. Owen of Baltimore. The train was on its way from Chicago to New York.

GOULD LINE ACTION IS NEAR.

A Receiver for the Pittsburgh Terminal Company May Be Asked To-day.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 29.—It is said receivership proceedings for the Washburn Terminal Railway company will be instituted to-day either in the state or United States courts.

Attorneys W. F. McCoke, James H. Reed and James Beal were in the United States district court for a short time and were called to the bench for a conference with Judge Young. The result of the conference could not be learned.

DR. SNOW IS ABLE TO TRAVEL.

The Ex-Chancellor of K. U. to Return Home After Treatment at Sanitarium.

LAWRENCE, Kas., May 29.—Dr. F. H. Snow, who has been in the sanitarium at Bonner Springs for four months, has so far recovered that he will be home to-morrow. He will take an extended trip with his daughter this summer and hopes to return to his work in the university next year.

MORE OKLAHOMA TORNADES.

The New State Swept by Storms of Wind, Hail and Flood.

GUTHRIE, Ok., May 29.—A second series of tornadoes, cloudbursts and heavy rains struck Oklahoma last night. Tornadoes are reported at Hennessey, Enid, Frederick, Cashion and Duncan, cloudbursts from Weleetka, Tulsa and Navina. The damage by last night's storms is as great as the floods of last week.

do something. Dr. Coyle of Denver spoke, but it was hardly necessary. He said rain fell in Seattle seven and one-half days a week, not a downpour like Kansas City gets. It is only a drizzle that would unfit the commissioners for business. It would cost $30,000 to $50,000 more to take the assembly to Seattle than to Denver. Furthermore, Presbyterians in Colorado are to celebrate their fiftieth anniversary in that state next summer and the assembly should go out and help. If he overlooked any of the attractions of his city and state no one who ever was out there could remember them. He went into ecstasies over it. He seemed lost at times for adjectives to describe the beauties of scenery waiting for the assembly to see.

Then the assembly voted unanimously for Denver, Oklahoma City withdrew from the contest last night. Denver agreed to put up $15,000 for hospitality.

The first Presbyterian sermon preached in Colorado was by the Rev. Lewis Hamilton, in what is now Denver, July 12, 1859. Horace Greeley was present at that service.

The assembly elected an advisory board to confer with the stated clerk, to audit the accounts and to approve his audit. The election of the board was requested by the Rev. William Henry Roberts, stated clerk. The board consists of: Ministers, the Rev. William H. Oxtoby and the Rev. Joseph W. Cochran, D. D.; elders, George W. Bailey, S. Spencer Chapman and George Stevenson, all of Philadelphia.

AN ENDOWMENT FUND NEEDED.

The report on theological seminaries was read by the Rev. J. N. Barkley of Detroit. In the report a larger endowment was requested for the Lebanon Theological seminary at Lebanon, Tenn. At present the income is $5,000 to pay the salary of six professors. The request was filed.

The assembly may finish its business tomorrow afternoon. That was the general opinion this morning. Of the 889 commissioners probably one-half already have returned to their homes. The amount paid these 889 commissioners for mileage was $40,500.

TEMPERANCE TALKS TO-NIGHT.

Miss Marie C. Brehm and Others Will Speak in Convention Hall.

A mass meeting in the interest of temperance will be held in Convention hall at 8 o'clock to-night. The Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, D. D., of Pittsburgh, chairman of the permanent committee on temperance, will preside. Among the speakers will be: Miss Marie C. Brehm of Chicago, who has made many speeches on temperance, and the Rev. J. M. Fulton of Philadelphia, Judge William H. Wallace of Kansas City and C. W. Trickett of Kansas City, Kas., will also speak at the meeting. The chorus used by Charles M. Alexander, the gospel singer, in the evangelistic meeting last Saturday night in the hall, will furnish the music to-night.

NOT ON THE PROGRAMME.

Gossip of the Assembly Heard on the Floor of the Big Hall.

Robert Howard Hudson of Kansas City, singer and lecturer, is to sing to-night in the popular meeting for temperance in Convention hall.

To-day was "pay day" at Convention hall. Of course, that wasn't the official title, but just the same more money changed hands than in many a mercantile establishment on the regular pay day. Two long tables were placed in the rear of the arcade. At one sat the mileage committee, at the other was the committee on hospitality. The commissioners who desired to leave applied there for their expenses.

The assembly pays the expenses of the commissioners and both committees were busy this morning. Nearly all the forenoon a line that at no time contained fewer than fifty ministers and elders stood before the mileage and hospitality committees to receive the cash that would reimburse them for their trip here.

"Going home to-morrow," a commissioner asked another this morning in Convention hall.

"Not much. I'm going to see the city before I leave. First chance I ever did get to come here and I've been so busy I haven't had time to see anything but street cars and hotels. As soon as the assembly's over I'm going to take a week on my own time and see a few things of interest here. Might not have the chance again."

The fan of the sun was on his face and men called him "captain," but R. T. Jacobs, a commissioner from Oklahoma City, Ok., did not explain the title.

"Talk about myself?" he asked, "I haven't time. And then—well, I don't feel like it this morning. You see, I came to the assembly to work for Oklahoma City as the next meeting place. But my arder received a blow yesterday. I got word from Oklahoma City to cease my labors; that the city did not desire this assembly until 1910. They're building a new church and I suppose they don't care for the assembly until it is finished. But you can't always get things when you want them. Might not meet with any favor at all next year."

And "Captain" Jacobs appeared sorrowful.

The future of Siam is one topic upon which Dr. George McFarland, medical missionary to that country, can talk with more than the usual interest.

"For years, Siam was 'between two fires,'" he said this morning, "but things are becoming brighter now. Until a short time ago, the growth of the place was retarded by the French and English, who squabbled continually over their 'rights.' The French claimed subjects living in certain places as their proteges. When death came, the French claimed the children and in time the grandchildren. But the government of Siam recently objected to this. The French now are allowed proteges and their children, but not the grandchildren. In this way, the power of France is being gradually lessened."

The Rev. J. F. Price of Marion, Ky., will preach in the Second Presbyterian church, Kansas City, Kas., Sunday, in the place of the Rev. Jay C. Moore, the regular pastor.

F. W. Bailey, commissioner from Irwanna, Pa., smiled when a man asked about his occupation this morning.

"Do you want all of them?" he asked, "Sure."

"Well, let me think. You know Irwanna is a small town and the general store is still in vogue there. I sell hardware, and then furniture. If I get tired of that I can go to the implement department and dispose of a few plows. Then I can reduce the stock of the store's building material or lumber. Anything else? Yes. The store I am in sells hay, straw and grain just as a side line. And I almost forgot—I'm a clerk in the postoffice, too."

"Ever hear of a 'table town'?" Samuel O. Conley, a commissioner of Watsonville, Pa., asked this morning. "That's just the kind of a town I came from," he continued. "There are several factories there that make nothing but exception tables. And those factories turn out tables by the trainload."

Mr. Conley is the owner of a table factory.

The "postmaster" in Convention hall was a bit disconsolate this morning.

"It isn't that I'm lazy," he explained, "but it does seem a trifle tough. For about eight days I've stood here and dealt out the mail to a line of men. Now, the assembly'll soon be over and the fellows that have been working themselves half to death will have a chance to rest. But I won't. You see, when all these ministers leave, the mail that comes late will have to be forwarded to them and that makes more work than ever."

And the "postmaster" sighed again.

The mining of spar, a mineral that is used much, but about which very little is said, is the principal occupation near Marion, Ky., whence the Rev. J. F. Price comes to attend the assembly.

"And you don't know what spar is?" he asked when a stranger displayed ignorance this morning. "It's a mineral that is found in 'insure veins' and in appearance it resembles alum. In Marion there are five mills that crush the mineral to a powder. It is then shipped to all parts of Pennsylvania and other states where it is used in the manufacture of steel, iron, glass, globes and many other things. From it is also made fluorine acid, which is used to reduce gold-bearing quartz."

There was a time when Anadarko, Ok., was a "rag town" as tent towns are called in Oklahoma. That was six years ago and according to the Rev. E. B. Teis, a commissioner, times have changed since then. Now, instead of the tents that lined the irregular roadways, there are substantial brick buildings and paved streets. The city has modern conveniences, too. Electric lights, a water works plant and a complete sewage system are all there and are being operated to advantage under municipal control. The town has a population of 2,600.

There was an expression of weariness in the eyes of the Rev. Charles McGinley, chairman of the press committee, this morning, and he lifted his hands only to let them fall to his sides again.

"All in," he said slowly. "I know it isn't correct grammar, but that expresses it. All in," and he repeated the word as if they might bring a little rest to him.

"Tired," the visitor asked, and Dr. McGinley smiled faintly. Then he pointed to the badge, "Press," on his coat as if that would express the work he has had to do in the last week and a half.

"Haven't had time to think," he said. "Oh-h-h-h, McGinley-y-y."

Far down the arcade a man was calling the chairman. "Come here a minute," he urged.

Dr. McGinley sighed. "There it goes again," he said, and hurried away.

There is a close resemblance between the Rev. John B. Hill, D. D., of Kansas City, chairman of the committee on arrangements, and the Rev. J. S. Dixon, D. D., of New York, secretary of the college board. That resemblance has caused much trouble since the assembly began. Many times has Dr. Hill been asked for reports that he never heard of, while Dr. Dixon has been the mark of frequent inquiries about Kansas City and other things about which he knew no more than the questioner.

"So I've adopted a rule that will hold as long as the convention lasts," Dr. Dixon said this morning. "When a man speaks to me I ask: 'Before we begin talking, whom do you believe I am, Dixon or Hill?'"

BOTH RIVERS ARE RISING.

No Danger of a Flood, However, the Weather Bureau Says.

"It was just five years ago to-day," P. Connor, weather forecaster, said to-day, "that the Kaw river began to climb up and the next day was running over Armourdale and the West bottoms. On the first day of June it was carrying everything before it."

"I'm reminded of that by conditions in the Kaw valley now. The Kaw is rising and will continue to rise, and Sunday it probably will be at the highest point so far this year, although there is no danger of a flood."

The rise in the Kaw will be caused by a flood in the Blue river, a tributary of the Kaw. At 7 o'clock this morning the Kaw had gone up 74 feet at Manhattan and at Topeka 17 feet. By the time the water reaches Kansas City it will be spread over more and will not reach the top of the banks.

The weather has cleared in Kansas, however, and there will be no further rise. The Missouri river shows a rise at all stations. At Sioux City the rise is one foot and at Kansas City three-tenths of a foot and still rising. The danger line at Kansas City is twenty-one feet and the gauge is now 15.4 feet. The water from the Kaw and from above is expected to send it up to about seventeen feet. In the flood of 1903 it reached a stage of thirty-five feet.

The floods in the Southwest, in the Blue valley in Kansas, in Iowa and Illinois are affecting the train service into Kansas City and this morning a great many trains were marked up for short delays on account of high water or soft tracks, which delayed the trains or their connections. Oklahoma and Texas trains were affected the most.

POLICE "SNITCHES" FINED.

Judge Kyle Puts the High Bond Men in the Class of "Lous Sharks."

Police "snitching" was the charge against four negroes, George Thompson, Charles Smith, Horace Crenshaw and Andrew Payne in police court this morning. "Snitching" is the police vernacular for the custom of soliciting prisoners in the police stations for permission to furnish bonds for their appearance in police court, charging high interest upon the money advanced.

Judge Kyle ordered a fine of $500 placed on the records against Thompson, with instructions that the man be given a stay of execution so long as he remains away from police headquarters.

"It is not criminal to make bonds," the judge said, "but in this case the circumstances make it bad. Men in this business have about the same moral standing as the loan sharks."

Smith and Crenshaw were given the same sentence. In the case of Payne Judge Kyle said:

"Five months ago I ordered Andy to stay away from here and quit 'snitching.' He has done so and I am going to discharge him."

BISHOPS TO MINNEAPOLIS.

The Dedication of the Pro-Cathedral to Be Attended by Kansas Prelates.

Bishop Thomas F. Lillis of Kansas City, Kas., and Bishop J. J. Hennessy of Wichita to-day joined the pilgrimage of bishops and priests of the Roman Catholic church to Minneapolis, where on Sunday the corner stone of Archbishop Ireland's pro-cathedral is to be laid. The cathedral in St. Paul and the pro-cathedral in Minneapolis, both under construction, will each cost 1 million dollars. Nearly all of the bishops in the Middle and Western states are expected to attend the ceremonies.

TEARS STOP MURDER TRIAL

MRS. SAPP COLLAPSED IN THE COURT ROOM IN IOLA.

Other Women Joined in the Weeping and the Judge Ordered a Recess Until Quiet Was Restored—A Demonstration for Whitlow.

IOLA, Kas., May 29.—Mrs. J. N. Sapp, the mother of May Sapp, for whose murder Samuel F. Whitlow is being tried, became hysterical and collapsed in the courtroom at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Sapp was overcome while Charles H. Apt of counsel for the state was making his plea to the jury. He had just referred to Mrs. Sapp and her connection with events the night of the tragedy.

Mrs. Sapp was sitting near the attorney. She had been weeping for some moments. Suddenly she buried her face in her hands and began to moan and sob. Her daughter, Mrs. Rex Bowls, who was also in tears, ran to her mother's assistance, as did J. N. Sapp, her husband. As they started to take her out of the room the mother sank to the floor. Some one called for water and several attorneys and Mrs. Bay Smock, another daughter of Mrs. Sapp, rushed for the water pitcher on the judge's desk.

WOMEN CRIED IN SYMPATHY.

The courtroom was crowded to its capacity. Several women began to cry aloud and Judge Foust, seeing the confusion, hurriedly adjourned court. Mrs. Sapp was quickly revived. She did not return to the courtroom this morning.

Whitlow's face was a study during the affair. He was holding his little girl on his lap. At the first sound from Mrs. Sapp he looked in her direction. His face flushed and he set his lips. He looked straight ahead after that and his countenance showed nothing of anything he might have thought. The other members of his family appeared distressed. None of them made a movement.

G. R. Gard, who began his argument for the defense last night, finished this morning. Mr. Apt followed him for the state. Mr. Apt mercilessly arraigned Whitlow, calling him a murderer at every possible opportunity. Whitlow did not flinch even when the attorney pointed him out to the jury. Occasionally the defendant wiped his face with his handkerchief or fanned himself with his straw hat. Mr. Apt commenced his argument by attacking the assertions made by the defense that it would show conclusively not only that May Sapp had committed suicide, but that she had threatened to and attempted it before September 27, 1907, the day she died.

NO PROOF OF SUICIDE, HE SAID.

"They have failed to show these things," Mr. Apt said. "I challenge the records in this case to show any words from the witness stand to prove any of these things except the statements of Samuel Whitlow. You'll notice, too, that the court hasn't called this a tragedy. He instructed for murder in the first or second degree or acquittal. Under the evidence and the law it is clear this deed was murder."

"As to the time which elapsed during the transaction of this crime it is immaterial. The witnesses vary a little in time only as to the differences in their timepieces might show."

The attorney called attention to Mrs. Sapp as a witness. He said she was disinterested as far as the defendant was concerned, that his conviction or acquittal would not add or take away a single grief from those she was already bearing. He referred to May Sapp's screams and her cry following them.

What was that cry which the mother and others heard? he asked. "Was it mother or murder? I cannot say. You saw how Whitlow cringed when Judge Schoonover asked would he tell you what it was. No, for either word would have choked that defendant on the witness stand. He told you that after those screams he heard the kitchen door slam and then, cravenlike, cowardly, demonlike, he left the prostrate form of that girl and ran."

Here Mrs. Sapp's sobs interfered with Mr. Apt's speech and the adjournment was taken. When Mr. Apt resumed his talk he told of Whitlow's actions which finally caused the officers to settle upon him as the guilty one. He arraigned the offense for his attack upon May Sapp's sanity. He told how May was prepared to attend a party the night of her death without a thought of unhappiness. He described the train of witnesses who had come from Moran to testify to the contentment of the dead girl.

THE QUESTION OF HER SANITY.

"What witness challenged the unnatural conditions of her mind? Sam Whitlow. He is the only man of 600 persons in Moran who has been found that May Sapp was not perfectly sane."

"He told an unnatural story, a story that you need not believe. The man who could on the Sunday of May Sapp's funeral sit down calmly and deliberately in the bosom of his family, he says, and write what he calls statement No. 1, who could blacken the sweet memory of May Sapp is not fit to live in a civilized community."

"Is his story natural? The court tells you that you need not believe it unless it is. You know it is unnatural. He says in his statement that he offered May Sapp $100 if she would let him be. This blackest thing in pen and ink was written of this girl when the bells were tolling her funeral. Had that man ever offered her that he would never have had breath to have uttered the last word."

In this part of his argument the attorney turned repeatedly and pointed toward Whitlow, who was facing the jury two-thirds of the way across the courtroom. Mrs. Whitlow was in tears after the mention of the writing of the first statement.

The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon.

TWO SUE THE METROPOLITAN.

A Woman Thrown From a Car Asks $5,000, a City Employee $10,000.

Two damage suits, aggregating $15,000, were brought in the circuit court this morning against the Metropolitan Street Railway company. Mrs. Anna Schoenhard, who lives near Thirty-third street and Garfield avenue, sued for $5,000 because of injuries she received in an accident May 18 at Forty-eighth street and Harrison avenue. The car started as she was alighting and she was thrown to the pavement receiving severe bruises.

John Wickland, a driver of a street flushing wagon, sued for $10,000. On May 14 a car struck his wagon at Twenty-first and Vine streets. He was thrown from the seat to the pavement and suffered severe injuries.

TENNESSEE LEAVES TO-MORROW.

Storms and High Water Caused a Delay to the Boat.

The steamer Tennessee will not leave for St. Louis until noon to-morrow. The delay is caused by the late arrival of the boat last night and the rise in the river, which prevented the completion of repairs to the warehouse, so that the work of unloading is slow. The boat brought nearly 300 tons of merchandise from St. Louis and will have a full load for the return trip. Besides a large quantity of miscellaneous freight out of here for way landings there will be a deckload of horses for Miami. At Miami the cargo will be completed with wheat for St. Louis. Ten passengers have been booked for St. Louis.

The Chester will leave St. Louis either Tuesday or Wednesday. Captain W. L. Thompson will transfer to the Chester and Captain H. N. Dodd of Kansas City will take the Tennessee back to St. Louis. George H. Park, who has been clerk on the Tennessee, will go to the Chester and L. L. Campbell, who has been clerk at the warehouse, will go on the Tennessee.

The Tennessee made the run, St. Louis to Kansas City, in 102 hours, the fastest run yet by either boat. If it had not been delayed by storms it could have cut the time to ninety-five hours. The Chester is a faster boat and is expected to make the run regularly in eighty-five hours or less.

A RICH MAN'S FATAL CALL

DEATH CAME TO A VISITOR IN A HOTEL LOBBY.

The New York Police Are Investigating the Case of Charles M. Holmes of Boston—Topic of the Metropolis.

New York, May 29.—An investigation was begun to-day into the circumstances surrounding the mysterious death of Charles M. Holmes, a wealthy Boston leather merchant, last night. Mr. Holmes died in the lobby of the Hoffman house, where he had been a guest, immediately after his return there in a taxicab from a visit to a house in West Forty-seventh street. He had been taken suddenly ill during his visit and was hurried back to the hotel before a physician was summoned. After his death the police took into custody Hugh Fitzsimmons, the driver of the taxicab, Mrs. Clara Moore, in whose apartment Mr. Holmes was staying; Josephine Wells, Mrs. Moore's maid; and Frederick Moorehead, elevator man in the apartment house in which Mrs. Moore lives. Moorehead and Miss Wells assisted Holmes to the cab which had been called to take him to the hotel.

Two detectives were standing at the entrance of the Hoffman house last night when a cab dashed up, and a gray-haired man was helped out and half-carried, half dragged to the lobby of the hotel. He was gasping for breath and clutching at his heart as he was taken from the cab. He died a moment afterwards in the hotel lobby, after he had been recognized by the employees of the hotel, to whom he was known through frequent visits. The cabman, who had been detained by the detectives, was taken into custody and accompanied the detectives to the Forty-seventh street house, where Mrs. Moore and the maid and the elevator man were found. Holmes's body was given into the custody of the coroner.

A DETECTIVE A "CON" MAN'S VICTIM. Cecil Pape, a Scotland Yard detective, hurried into police headquarters to-day with a sad tale of how he had been taken in by a "con" game so old that only the backwoods "rubes" are fooled by it on this side of the water. Pape was angry, and he got angrier every minute he talked. He gave up his passage home on the Lusitania to catch the "blooming scoundrel" who got his $200. The game was the same old one of the pleasing stranger with the "horse" dice.

ROCKEFELLER DOESN'T FEAR CAMERA NOV. Since John D. Rockefeller has changed his plan of life and no longer dodges newspaper men, he has also become interested in being snapped. An interviewer found him on the golf links a few days ago. Mr. Rockefeller declared he had been up for hours, in fact before most

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S GOLF PACK. persons are out of bed, and that he had done his day's work before he permitted himself the relaxation of golf. He gave a smiling assent when asked if he would pose for a picture "just as he was."

NO NAMES ON NEW YORK CHURCHES. Strangers in New York will never cease to wonder why the churches, so many of them, have no legend on their fronts telling their denomination and their name. They do put out the advertising card of their sexton-undertaker; but that is all. The homes of the little Jewish congregations can teach the Christian churches a lesson. Their names are carved in front in hieroglyphics and in English. The older Christian churches, the little brick cubes that you find on every cross street, can also teach the newer edifices a lesson. Their names in almost every instance are plainly indicated on a slab of marble or sandstone set in the main facade, up near the eaves. Perhaps all the New York churches will get visible names at about the same time that all the streets get corner signs.

PUTTING A RHINOCEROS TO SLEEP. Fifteen New York veterinarians have discovered that the dose of anaesthetics required to put a rhinoceros to sleep is a pound and three-quarters of chloroform and a half pound of ether. This accession to veterinarian science was made during an operation to remove cataracts in the eyes of Mogul, the Indian rhinoceros in the Bronx zoo. Mogul, after succumbing to more than half a gallon of anaesthetic, remained under its influence for an hour and at the end of that time began to crunch hay as though nothing had happened.

Through a blow on the head in his native jungle Mogul nearly lost the sight of both eyes, and the operation was agreed upon after careful examination. The big problem was to tell how much anaesthetic it was safe to give. The hide of the pachyderm was so thick that no pulse was obtainable, and the stethoscope was useless. By means of a derrick and harness Mogul was thrown. A roll of cotton batting stuffed in a cone of brown paper was used to administer the anaesthetic. Before the rhinoceros was put to sleep the funnies nearly overcame the doctors and keepers. The operation consumed half an hour. It will take a month to tell if it is successful.

To Present the History Medal To-Night. The gold medal offered by the Elizabeth Benton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the best grade made by a Westport High school pupil in an examination in American history will be presented to-night at the annual declamatory contest held at the school. The name of the winner has not been announced.

K. S. A. C. IS AHEAD OF K. U.

The Agricultural School Now Has an Enrollment of 2,150.

MANHATTAN, KAN., May 29.—When the new catalogue of the Kansas State Agricultural college is issued it will contain the names of 2,150 students, which is the official count for the school year and places Kansas State Agricultural college, from the point of numbers, at the head of the educational institutions of the state. This number will be slightly increased as the summer school students enroll for the summer courses.

The record of attendance for the last three years is: 1906, 1,690; 1907, 1,937; 1908, 2,150. At this rate of increase many predict that the enrollment next year will reach the 2,500 mark. The new courses recently adopted, new buildings and added equipment should attract a larger number of students than ever before, and the college is looking forward to a period of rapid growth in the next few years.

MRS. FRENCH SETTLES A SUIT.

The Maled Bitten by Her Woman's Dog Said to Have Got $4,000.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 29.—The suit for $10,000 damages brought by Hilda Reka Oberg, a nurse, against Mrs. E. T. French, mother of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, because of injuries received at Newport more than a year ago, by being bitten by a dog, the property of the defendant, was settled out of court yesterday. The case had been on trial here for two days. At a time when the plaintiff was obviously creating much sympathy by her pitifully nervous and hysterical condition and by the fact that, being deaf, it was necessary to write the oath and questions of counsel on slips of paper for submission to her, Mrs. French's counsel asked a recess in order to confer with the other side. It is said that the suit was settled for $4,000.

WAR RUMORS ARE NOT TRUE.

Russia and Persia Hope for a Suppression of the Border Tribes.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 29.—The sensational reports published in certain London papers regarding the possibility of a rupture of diplomatic relations between Russia and Persia are discredited at the foreign office and the Persian legation here. At both places the officials' view is optimistic regarding the ability of the shah's government to restore order in the Russian provinces within the time limit of the Russian ultimatum presented by General Snarski, the Russian commander in the field. This limit expires June 10.

Death of Miss Louise Telsey of Rosedale.

Miss Louise Telsey, a pupil in the Rosedale High school, died of tuberculosis last night at her home, 1410 Walnut street, Rosedale. Miss Telsey was 15 years old and a daughter of S. A. Telsey, a contractor. She was a pupil in the Rosedale schools twelve years. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in the First M. E. church, Rosedale. Burial will be in Drexel, Mo.

Will Live in a Pullman at Denver.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 29.—A number of Democrats of Greene county and the southern part of the Seventh congressional district, who expect to attend the Democratic national convention, will make the trip from Springfield to Denver in a special Pullman coach. The Pullman will be used as the home of the party from the time it leaves the local railroad yards till its return to the Ozarks.

BURTON TO NOMINATE TAFT

THE KEYNOTE WILL BE BY THE CLEVELAND MAN.

No Formal Announcement of the Choice Has Been Made, but Washington Knows That the Matter Is Settled.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—While no formal announcement has been made, it may be stated definitely that Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio will present the name of Secretary Taft to the Chicago convention.

Representative Burton, since the institution of Secretary Taft's preliminary campaign, has been one of his closest friends and advisers and is regarded as one of the best representatives of all that Secretary Taft stands for in the United States.

Mr. Burton will leave Washington in two or three days for Hot Springs, Va., to take a needed rest. While he is there he probably will prepare his address nominating Secretary Taft. He will return to Washington before he leaves for Chicago to attend the convention. It is probable that he will go directly to Chicago from this city about June 12 or 13.

Theodore Burton was the candidate of the Republicans for mayor of Cleveland at the election last fall. After a spirited contest he was defeated by Tom Johnson.

Mr. Burton was first elected in 1889 to Congress to represent the Twenty-first Ohio district. After serving one term he was re-elected in 1895, and his present term expires in 1909. He is chairman of the inland waterways commission and is widely known in Kansas City.

STORM DESTROYS OIL TANKS.

A Santa Fe Bridge Also Washed Out by Rain in Oklahoma.

TULSA, Ok., May 29.—Twenty oil tanks and several rigs in the Glenn pool were destroyed by lightning and the Santa Fe bridge over Bird creek between Owasso and Collinsville was washed out during a severe storm which swept over northeastern Oklahoma last night. The loss in the Glenn pool will reach $50,000. The heaviest losers are the Whetstone Oil and Gas company, Selby Oil and Gas company, Lieber Oil company and Beacon Oil company.

The Santa Fe has suspended train service pending a repair of its bridge. Other property and crops in the path of the storm are reported injured.

TO BUILD A $10,000 CHURCH.

The Children's Memorial Lutheran Congregation Has Purchased a New Lot.

The congregation of the Children's Memorial Lutheran church has sold its property at Admiral boulevard and Tracy avenue and has purchased a lot on the corner of Independence and Brighton avenues. Work will begin at once on a brick veneered church to cost $10,000. The Rev. A. B. Shradar is pastor of the church. Services are now being held at 5417 St. John avenue.

Kansas Girl Dies of Burns.

CONCORDIA, KAN., May 29.—Miss Gertrude Burbank, who was severely burned a week ago while burning trash, died last night. She was 17 years old. The body was taken to Jacksonville, Ill., for burial.

WOMEN IN THE CANOE REGATTA.

An Interesting Feature of the Decoration Day Water Sports—Clubhouse Open.

The quarter mile race for mixed doubles in which there will be a young woman wielding a paddle in each of the three canoes entered, will be the feature of the Decoration day regatta of the Paddle and Camp club. There are to be seven events, counting the barbecue, which will be for club members only. The regatta will be at Fifteenth street and the Blue river. The programme follows:

First Event—Parade of all entries. First prize for the most appropriately decorated boat, canoe gas lamp, given by the H. J. Brunner Hardware company; second prize, ribbon.

Second Event—200 yard dash for singles. First prize, Schmeizer trophy; second prize, ribbon. Entries: No. 1, H. E. Frost; No. 2, C. S. Montroy; No. 3, W. A. Osgood; No. 4, D. H. Skinner; No. 5, Fred V. Whelan; No. 6, J. H. Kenton; No. 7, F. P. Knaus; No. 8, R. Mudra; No. 9, B. C. Little.

Third Event—200 yard dash for doubles. First prize, pair canoe paddles, given by J. H. Rushton Canoe company; second prize, ribbon. Entries: Team No. 1, H. E. Frost and S. Sieben; No. 2, W. Welch and F. B. Schell; No. 3, W. A. Osgood and R. Mudra; No. 4, J. H. Kenton and R. Mudra; No. 5, W. S. Guinotte and E. Curtis; No. 6, F. A. Miesman and C. H. Casman; No. 7, Roy Pearce and Paul Hoops; No. 8, Chester Rodgers and Glen Waldron.

Fourth Event—Quarter mile race for mixed doubles. First prize, hat, given by the Brown Hat company, for man; paddle and camp pin for woman; second prize, ribbons. Entries: Team No. 1, Charles A. Shoop and Mrs. Shoop; No. 2, R. Mudra and Miss L. Ashby; No. 3, Miss Florence Collins and S. H. Sieben; No. 4, William Welch and F. B. Schell; No. 5, F. V. Whelan and J. D. Knaus; No. 6, Shoop and Cateh Monroe; No. 7, W. S. Guinotte and E. Curtis; No. 8, F. A. Miesman and C. H. Casman; No. 9, Roy Pearce and R. Hoops; No. 10, E. Leslie Schell and G. O. Williams; No. 11, Chester Rodgers and Glen Waldron.

Extra Event—Tilting contest. L. H. Kenton and R. Mudra composing one team and Charles A. Shoop and Sam Shoop the opposing team, will engage in a tilting contest for honors.

Members of the friends of the Paddle and Camp club only. Officials—Referee, Dr. Elliott Smith; timer, Charles M. First; starter, Norman Volmer; judge, P. W. Seaton; judge, McCabe Howe; judge, Henry Schott.

An interesting event will be the formal opening of the new clubhouse. A fine view of the course may be had from the bridge at Fifteenth street.

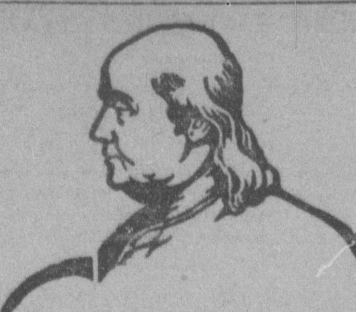

The following are the members of the Paddle and Camp club: Percy R. Allen, J. C. Boyd, William J. Brown, A. Barnby, Edward Booth, Arthur N. Bungart, D. H. Duffield, Dr. O. H. Dove, Cal Edwards, S. H. Emmert, Harold E. Frost, Walter H. Foster, James Guinotte, William Guinotte, Jules E. Guinotte, E. W. Gutterberger, W. C. Hansen, O. M. Hixon, W. E. Heath, G. R. Heckle, Zach Hoops, Leon H. Swearingen, Edmund Sieben, Dr. Edward H. Skinner, R. S. Smith, H. D. Tefft, Vern O. Williams, Charles C. Wilson, Harry G. Wilson, William Welch, F. V. Whelan.

EARLY BERRIES NEARLY GONE.

The Southern Missouri Pick Exhausted—Only Home-Grown Kinds Now.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 29.—The supply of the earlier varieties of strawberries in Southwest Missouri is about exhausted and the berries are becoming scarcer. A freeze during the time the plants were blooming killed fully 40 per cent of the crop. The season is now nearly over. Six weeks ago, a demand was made of local employment agents for 4,000 pickers for Southwest Missouri berry fields, but the freeze resulted in a large reduction in the number of men needed.

Reports from the peach district around Koshkonong indicate that about four hundred cars of the Ozark fruit will be shipped out this season. Apples are in fair condition, though the crop will be short of previous years. Other smaller fruits are in generally fair condition.

Beating the Law

Seems to be a popular pastime with "sports" who are not sportsmen.

There's an added zest, they explain, in playing hide-and-seek with the game-warden without being "it."

But—

They are beating their own game — these Game Hogs that Emerson Hough so picturesquely describes in this week's SATURDAY EVENING POST. It's amazing to reflect that a few thousand American Game Hogs are likely, in a few years, to make sports impossible for real sportsmen—and for themselves.

Get What You Ask For

There Are Many Reasons why you ask for advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good" or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you requested.

The Advertised Article must of necessity be of the highest quality, otherwise it could not be successfully sold and the advertising continued.

The Buying Public recognizes the superior quality of advertised articles. The substitutor realizes that fact and tries to sell inferior goods on the advertiser's reputation.

FRIDAY, MAY 29.

The Senate clique, headed by Aldrich, Kean, Crane and Elkins, defeated the measures demanded by President Roosevelt. The voters in the Central and Western states cannot reach Aldrich, Kean, Crane and Elkins, but they can reach the Senators who aided and abetted them.

CONGRESS AND THE RECKONING AHEAD OF IT.

In the natural course of political events the shameful record made by Congress in the session now near its end would perilously endanger the party in power at the coming national election. But so far as the Presidential election is concerned, the attitude of the majority in Congress against the people and the President should strengthen the candidacy of Secretary Taft rather than weaken it. The people cannot immediately regain control of both branches of Congress, but they may retain their hold on the Presidency by electing Mr. Taft, who stands for the people's policies as defined by the Roosevelt administration and the declarations of the Secretary of War.

As for the Congressional elections, they are almost certain to result in a Democratic majority in the House. In close districts, except where new Republican candidates secure the nominations over derelict incumbents, the Democratic candidate is offered as the proper substitute.

Mr. McVicar and Mr. Ash are in Kansas City to testify to the fact that in Des Moines it has not disappointed the people. Such testimony would be readily received regarding the conduct of any private business. Why not receive it as readily regarding the public business?

Mr. Bryan appears to believe confidently that he will be elected this year. There is no doubt that the Republican Congress has done a great deal to strengthen him in that conviction.

THE EVOLUTION OF MRS. HETTY GREEN.

The news that Hetty Green wore a merino frock when she paid her first visit to the beauty parlor in New York, in which she is taking treatment, sounds comfortable and old-fashioned and quite characteristic of the substantial and practical dame who has abandoned the simple life at Hoboken to taste of the exhilaration of smart society in Fifth avenue.

When Hetty Green is spoken of as wearing merino, the public may depend upon it that it was merino—not cashmere or henrietta, mind you, but the real stuff, twilled on both sides and "double width." Only women like Hetty Green have gowns of that kind any more. How long do you suppose it has been since anybody in Kansas City has seen a piece of real French merino?—the kind that "wore like tow" and that could be "turned" and made to look as good as new after ten years of use. And what are all the new fangled woolen goods in the market now, in comparison with that unrivaled and imperishable material?

With the friendly interest and the kindly curiosity with which the public greets the advent of Mrs. Green as a potential factor in the social world, will be blended the hope that she will not fail to persist in those fundamental and homespun habits that lend, in contrast with her environment, such an attractive phase to her character. For the wear and tear of business nothing certainly could be more serviceable than merino, with its alternating frills of beige, lusterings, dimites, etc., of which we may be certain Mrs. Green has an adequate store, not to speak of the possibility of prunella garters, leg-horn hats and the like. Heaven forbid that Hetty Green, transformed for social purposes by the modistes and the milliners and the beauty experts, should imply the elimination of the Hetty Green who frugality and strong common sense as reflected in the simplicity of her life have proved the inability of great riches, in specific instances, to demoralize their possessors.

While the course of the Republicans in Congress is calculated to widen the division that has been marked in the ranks of the party—or, rather, between the ranks and the Special Interests—there are signs of consistent and effective harmony on the Democratic side. It is conceivable, for example, that the Democratic party would be strongly reunited through the nomination of Governor Johnson of Minnesota. But even with the nomination of Mr. Bryan, which is far more probable, the old anti-Bryan Democrats would be more strongly persuaded to return to the fold than they were in either 1896 or 1900. Mr. Bryan has not recently demanded confession of sins and a new baptism for the insurgents of his two former campaigns. He has welcomed the nomination of Mr. Judson Harmon for the governorship of Ohio and has made no protest against the suggestion that ex-Governor Francis of Missouri be nominated for the Vice Presidency; and yet both of these men were members of Cleveland's cabinet and were opposed to Mr. Bryan. The Democratic leader has also accepted the championship of Mr. Roger Sullivan in Illinois, a man whom he once denounced with all his distinguished vigor.

There is an error which, if it ever reaches the eye of the higher court, must result in setting aside the verdict of the jury. The ordinary layman, who goes in merely for common sense, will wonder what a mere misstatement of history has to do with the merits of the case determined. And thereby he will confess his density. Of course, the error of the lawyer's argument had nothing whatever to do with the facts in dispute. But how many errors for which new trials are granted do have any bearing upon the merits of the case?

Now, put two errors in juxtaposition: A lawyer in a twentieth century case says that Charles II killed Cromwell. A prosecuting attorney charges that a man who was shot died "instantly" instead of "charging that he died 'then and there.' Can anybody see that one mistake was more immaterial than the other? Yet the latter error has been held to be a ground for a new trial.

If the common sense layman should still be dubious let him remember that the great body of lawyers in the country oppose the recommendation of President Roosevelt, of Governor Folk, and of others, including jurists, that no error in the trial of a case should be a reason for a reversal of the judgment unless the error has been prejudicial to the substantial rights of the party losing the suit.

The law, however, remaining as the lawyers wish it to remain, why should not the Snell judgment be reversed because a lawyer said that Charles II killed Cromwell? Why not, unless, indeed, the other lawyer did not know his history any better and failed to note an exception?

The grain gamblers in Chicago are rushing the corners in wheat and corn with a desperation that shows plainly that they realize fully the necessity of making hay while the sun shines. Time has been called on this sort of grafting, and nobody knows this any better than the sharks who are working it for all it is worth. But let none of these plungers fall into the error of believing that by the time the public fixes a right estimate on this disreputable means of grabbing money they will all be dead.

EVANGELISTS FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT.

The visit of John MacVicar and Wesley Ash, members of the Des Moines Commission, to Kansas City, Kas., is an innovation in campaign methods well worth the attention of the people of that city.

Here are two men who have come to advise the citizens of Kansas City as to the success of the Commission plan of government in Des Moines. They are not here to serve any selfish interest or to make either political or financial capital out of the people. Their fortunes will not be affected in any manner whatever by the results of the election next Tuesday. They know that the people of Des Moines are satisfied with it and would not return, for any consideration, to the old system which now burdens Kansas City, Kas. They are here to tell the voters these simple facts before the ballot is taken on the proposition to adopt the Des Moines plan for Kansas City, Kas.

The people can well afford to give heed to testimony of this kind. Far better, indeed, than they can afford to give attention to the plan of the public service corporations and the ambitious salary grabbers who have a selfish interest only in the retention of the old ward system.

For the inefficient, inadequate and haphazard plan which has involved Kansas City, Kas., in debt, added thousands of dollars to the burden of the taxpayers; crippled the public service and resulted in confessed failure, Commission government is offered as the proper substitute.

Mr. McVicar and Mr. Ash are in Kansas City to testify to the fact that in Des Moines it has not disappointed the people.

Such testimony would be readily received regarding the conduct of any private business. Why not receive it as readily regarding the public business?

How long do you suppose it has been since anybody in Kansas City has seen a piece of real French merino?—the kind that "wore like tow" and that could be "turned" and made to look as good as new after ten years of use. And what are all the new fangled woolen goods in the market now, in comparison with that unrivaled and imperishable material?

With the friendly interest and the kindly curiosity with which the public greets the advent of Mrs. Green as a potential factor in the social world, will be blended the hope that she will not fail to persist in those fundamental and homespun habits that lend, in contrast with her environment, such an attractive phase to her character. For the wear and tear of business nothing certainly could be more serviceable than merino, with its alternating frills of beige, lusterings, dimites, etc., of which we may be certain Mrs. Green has an adequate store, not to speak of the possibility of prunella garters, leg-horn hats and the like. Heaven forbid that Hetty Green, transformed for social purposes by the modistes and the milliners and the beauty experts, should imply the elimination of the Hetty Green who frugality and strong common sense as reflected in the simplicity of her life have proved the inability of great riches, in specific instances, to demoralize their possessors.

While the course of the Republicans in Congress is calculated to widen the division that has been marked in the ranks of the party—or, rather, between the ranks and the Special Interests—there are signs of consistent and effective harmony on the Democratic side. It is conceivable, for example, that the Democratic party would be strongly reunited through the nomination of Governor Johnson of Minnesota. But even with the nomination of Mr. Bryan, which is far more probable, the old anti-Bryan Democrats would be more strongly persuaded to return to the fold than they were in either 1896 or 1900. Mr. Bryan has not recently demanded confession of sins and a new baptism for the insurgents of his two former campaigns. He has welcomed the nomination of Mr. Judson Harmon for the governorship of Ohio and has made no protest against the suggestion that ex-Governor Francis of Missouri be nominated for the Vice Presidency; and yet both of these men were members of Cleveland's cabinet and were opposed to Mr. Bryan. The Democratic leader has also accepted the championship of Mr. Roger Sullivan in Illinois, a man whom he once denounced with all his distinguished vigor.

There is an error which, if it ever reaches the eye of the higher court, must result in setting aside the verdict of the jury. The ordinary layman, who goes in merely for common sense, will wonder what a mere misstatement of history has to do with the merits of the case determined. And thereby he will confess his density. Of course, the error of the lawyer's argument had nothing whatever to do with the facts in dispute. But how many errors for which new trials are granted do have any bearing upon the merits of the case?

Now, put two errors in juxtaposition: A lawyer in a twentieth century case says that Charles II killed Cromwell. A prosecuting attorney charges that a man who was shot died "instantly" instead of "charging that he died 'then and there.' Can anybody see that one mistake was more immaterial than the other? Yet the latter error has been held to be a ground for a new trial.

If the common sense layman should still be dubious let him remember that the great body of lawyers in the country oppose the recommendation of President Roosevelt, of Governor Folk, and of others, including jurists, that no error in the trial of a case should be a reason for a reversal of the judgment unless the error has been prejudicial to the substantial rights of the party losing the suit.

FLAG MADE IN LIBBY PRISON.

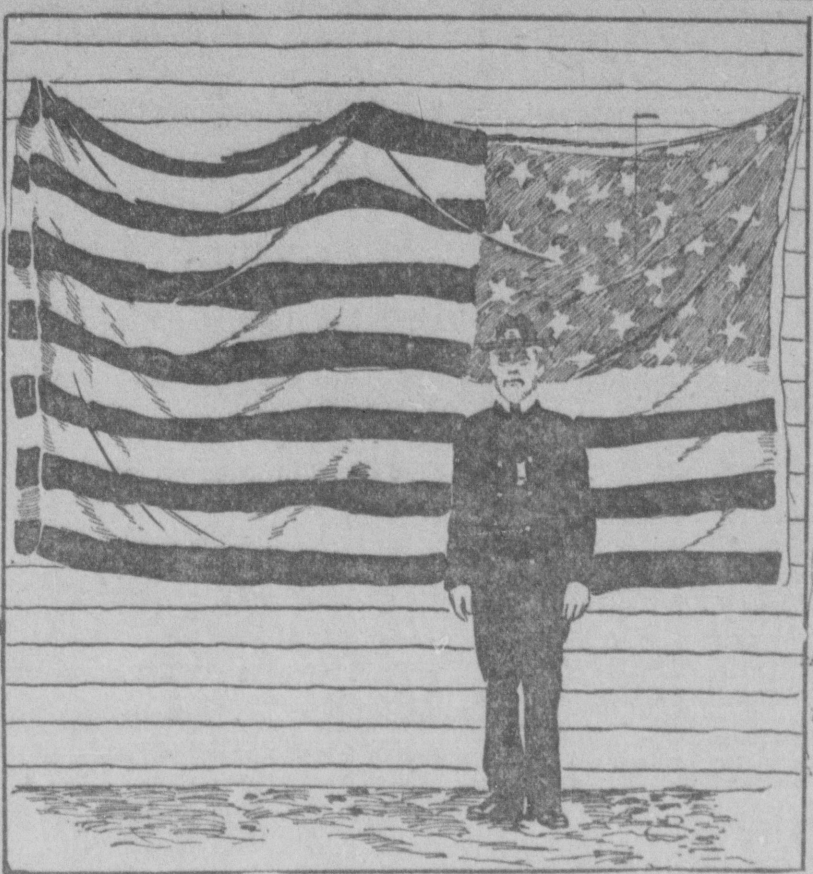

Prisoners Who Worked on It Paraded Material From Their Own Garments.

One of the most valued Civil war relics in Greater Boston is the old Libby prison flag now in possession of Thomas G. Stevenson post, G. A. R., Vine street, Roxbury. It was made in secret by Federal soldiers. The story of its making, which was fraught with danger and many obstacles, is a lesson in patriotism.

As the Fourth of July drew near the prisoners wished to find some way of celebrating the day without attracting the attention of their Confederate guards. The plan of making the ensign occurred to Timothy J. Regan, Ninth Massachusetts, Company E. He confided his plan to his comrades, who entered eagerly into the scheme and united their efforts cautiously for its accomplishment.

Some white cloth was smuggled into the prison, and for the other colors the men supplied parts of their red and blue flannel shirts. The various pieces were skillfully sewn together.

This flag, placed against the roof of the prison, which was extremely high, was out of sight of the Confederate guards. So it was under the folds of a genuine stars and stripes that the Union comrades gathered on that independence day and sang their songs of patriotism.

At night the ensign was as secretly distributed as it had been secretly put together, the parts were distributed to those who had contributed them, and the address of every man who had a portion was written down by Timothy Regan.

After the release from Libby prison, Regan began communicating with the men for the purpose of reassembling the flag. Progress was very slow, and often discouraging, and it was not until thirty years had passed that he finally succeeded in collecting every piece, when the flag was remade.

Another long period passed before the story was made public. Timothy Regan died twenty years ago. On his deathbed he called to his side David L. Jones, who was then commander of post 26, and said: "In that drawer, over there, you will find a key. Take it, open the door of the closet in the corner of the room, unlock a trunk and bring me what is in it." The flag was brought to him; and then he told the story of how it came to be made.

He concluded: "The old flag was made under great hardships, and in the midst of privation and suffering. In committing that act we infringed upon a cardinal rule of the prison; and had it been discovered, every man of us would have been severely punished. But it was worth all the risk to see it there above us while we were singing our songs. It was the only way in which we prisoners could celebrate the birthday of the blessed country for which we were fighting."

All the comrades separated widely, after our release, and I was in great fear that I should never be able to collect all the pieces; but I have done it at last, and every blessed piece is there."

The comrades who received this story by word of mouth from Regan, died recently. Funeral services were held for him last Wednesday at the Roxbury post. Now the tale is going the rounds among the veterans.

The flag is on exhibition at post 26. It is not, as some might suppose, a crude affair. Only close inspection can it be seen that parts of the material differ in texture from the bunting of the regulation flag.

BUNNIE RAN TO FAIR ARMS.

Mrs. Frank Gould Caught Scared Rabbit Chased at Horse Show.

From the New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA—Society can really get quite excited at a horse show and society do so Monday, once while the cadets from the Pennsylvania Military academy were being put through their feats of horsemanship and soon afterward when the sedate horse show was for a moment transformed into a hunt meet with a very bold and rakish rabbit as the game. Brer Bunny made his appearance all alone in the ring, and he was no sooner discovered than dozens of men and boys, some of the former in riding togs, leaped over the fences and made after him as if he were really some quite dangerous creature and to be captured lest he do some harm to the fair ones looking upon the hunt from the grandstand. The rabbit, however, eluded them all by running beneath the promenade and out the other side. In his excitement he seemed to go for protection to the nearest woman, who proved to be Mrs. Frank Gould. She picked bunny up amid loud cheers, and after stroking him gently for several minutes carried him to a place of safety in a clump of bushes, where he remained until his fluttering heart was stilled.

The Value of Exchange.

The famous astronomer was about to leave the home where he had been entertained when he discovered that his hat was missing. An accidental exchange had been effected, and the man of science was compelled to wear a hat the initials of which indicated that it belonged to a young singer who had endeavored to entertain the guests.

"Never mind, professor," said the host, as he calmed his irritated friend; "your hat will add fame to mediocrity; you will give a little eccentricity to genius."

HARD CIDER MUST GO, TOO.

Chief of Police of a Jersey Town Starts a Crusade Against "Apple Jack."

From the New York Times.

SUMMIT, N. J.—Jerseymen in this town have long fought shy of whiskey straight and beer, withstood the tempting cocktail, refused to look upon the wine when it is red and have indulged consistently in hard cider as a substitute for the more popular forms of liquid refreshment probably will have to change their drink or go with purchased lips. There is pending in committee in Summit common council an ordinance which prohibits the sale of hard cider within the town limits.

The originator of this measure is Chief of Police Brown. He has become the advance apostle of a form of prohibition which outposts that in the most advanced Southern states, where generals, colonels and majors brought up on alcohol have performed acts of renunciation of liquor which have astounded the drinking world.

Chief of Police Brown's excuse for the crusade is that "hard cider joints" are being operated in Summit, particularly on Sundays. He feels that the question, "Is hard cider intoxicating?" has been answered so often in the affirmative, with consequent trouble to the police, that it can no longer be disputed.

KANSAS NOTES.

"How about a Fourth of July celebration?" Several hundred Kansas newspapers "inquire to know."

The campaign has reached the point where the papers are discussing who has the better "handshake," Leland or Stubbs?

Some of the editors regard the Sunshine club, recently organized in Junction City, as a "knock" on the too frequent rains.

"The party whip," says the Atchison Globe, "will beat anything into a party man with the possible exception of snuff."

The Spring Hill News Era declares that "the devil is on the run in Olathe," but does not say which ticket he is running on.

"We have forgotten," says the Lawrence World, "that Jerry Boekin was cured of, but evidently it was not the tooth for office."

The Wichita Beacon explains that Jack London was not old enough, although crazy enough, to be eligible for the Socialist nomination for President.

A Kansas paper deprecates that Bishop Quayle is not a "good dresser." Dr. Quayle is also unable to "double in brass"—but he gets there just the same.

"W. A. Morgan's election to be department commander," observes the Coolidge Enterprise, "is a distinct victory for the faction in the G. A. R. that carried muskets from 1861 to 1865."

Having disposed of the Lincoln pie issue the Lawrence Journal asks: "Is there anything on this earth that can lay it over cherry pie?" Promptly the Eldorado Republican answers: "A properly made sheep sord pie beats a cherry pie out of sight."

The Wichita Eagle declares that a Methodist is "the equal in rank and dignity to a United States senator." Fortunately for the Methodists the bishop's rank and dignity is more secure than this. There are many silent bishops up and they are all fine men, while there are ninety-two senators of "assorted" kinds.

"Mrs. J. H. Larabee, known as 'Annie Redline,' the fattest woman in the world, and the four Larabee girls who do a trapeze act, left for their summer season of exhibiting at parks and street fairs last Friday afternoon," says the Salina Herald.

"A herd was at the Rock Island depot to see them off. A special flight of steps has been made for Annie Redline, on which to get down onto the platform with the coach platform. Two men hold the special steps in place, and a couple of men assist Annie Redline to climb them. She can just barely squeeze in the coach door."

Ralph Faxon, until recently secretary to Senator Lodge, says in the Garden City Telegram that the country has nothing to fear from George Bruce Cortelyou.

Says Mr. Faxon: "Mr. Cortelyou is a high grade clerk. He knows a lot, mostly about keeping his mouth shut. This made him valuable as a secretary to two Presidents, but it will get him nominated to be Vice President. It takes other qualifications. Mr. Cortelyou thought for a few brief weeks last fall he was running for the Presidential nomination. Then he found out differently. Since then he has heard mighty little of George Bruce Cortelyou until now. So don't worry. There's no danger of Cortelyou."

This scathing and terrific "arraignment" of the Hessian fly is from the Harper Sentinel. "That disreputable, dishonorable, thief-like, sneaking, herbivorous little creature known as the Hessian fly has been getting in its dirty work since way last fall on many of the wheat fields in this community, and now that the wheat is beginning to mature its nefarious attacks on the wheat stock is beginning to show. It is without doubt found in great quantities in many of the fields in this neighborhood, and the expected yield will be greatly reduced in many cases on account of the dirty work of this detestable little pest, that in its make up and procedure combines the work of its hibernating nemeses with the moral leper that sneaks in and breaks up a home."

"An erroneous report is being circulated to the effect that Colonel F. S. Savage of the Santa Fe made no remarks at the recent editorial meeting in Hutchinson," says W. Y. Morgan. "The contrary is true. Colonel Savage made one of the hits of the meeting. His speech was brief but pointed. He told the editors that they had been running the state of Kansas in a magnificent manner that demonstrated their entire fitness for the task and that some of them were no remarks."

He said a full and complete mouthful and more applause than any other speaker."

"RUBENES" MADE TO ORDER.

"Old Masters" a Specialty With This "Concannoner" Quaker City Artist.

From the Philadelphia Record.

Years ago I knew a remarkable Philadelphia artist who had a studio in Sanson street, near Seventh. To my positive knowledge, because I enjoyed his friendship and marveled, as a young man might, at the excellence of his work, this capable man spent many of the best years of his life painting "Rubenes."

Having passed some time "doing" the picture galleries of Europe, especially those of Madrid, the Louvre (in Paris) and Antwerp, I possessed fair judgment of the Rubens flesh tints. I was tolerably familiar with the physical perfections of Madame Rubens No. 2, who served on frequent occasions as her husband's model.

In short the hearty jollity with which my Philadelphia friend painted seemed to me exactly Rubens's own manner. In those days, I would have sworn that if the prolific Flemish painter could have been appealed to through the mediumism of cigars that would not at once incinerate, or of a tin of beer that would not turn into steam before the liquid was imbibed, he would have inspected the pictures that this Philadelphia painter executed and would have "obliged" with permission to sign his robust signature.

That painter of "Rubenes" whom I knew had a clear conscience. In all likelihood he entertained the same opinion regarding the Rubens school that Artist Kost swears Mr. Clausen expressed to me, on one occasion, regarding the American school of Martin, Wyant, et al.

There are in Philadelphia to-day a score of excellent examples of the work of this Sanson street "Rubens." I have seen "Burgomasters," "Old Flemish Woman" and "Portrait of a Girl" hanging upon various walls in the Quaker city.

Some of them were old friends, God bless 'em.

"The painting of 'Rubenes' is justifiable," this facile portrait painter once said to me. "There are 389 known pictures bearing his signature; and he was a rapid workman and probably painted several hundred other canvases. He left acres of embellished canvases all over Europe! And he was somewhat of a collector himself, for he held his private stock to the Duke of Buckingham containing three Raphaels, three Leonardos, seventeen each of Titian and Tintoretto, a score of other masters and thirteen pictures of his own. Therefore, I observe, why should not examples of Rubens be plentiful? They should be numerous. He could paint anything, landscapes, gods, or the side of a house. He wasn't particular. Give him a brush and a coffee mill; he would grind his own colors and paint 'from morn till dewey eve.'"

Peas With Parsley Sauce.

A pleasant variety in serving peas will be found in adding a parsley sauce. To half a peck of peas add several sprigs of chopped parsley and boil as usual. When the peas are thoroughly cooked strain off the liquid, of which there should be two cups. This will contain most of the parsley. To this add a little cream, butter, salt and pepper. The parsley will give the peas a delightful flavor and the dish will be found unusually palatable.

Advantages of Wit.

Sydney Smith.

Man could direct his ways by plain reason, and support his life by tasteless food; but God has given us wit, and flavor, and brightness, and laughter, and perfumers, to enliven the days of man's pilgrimage, and to "charm his pained steps over the burning marle."

THE MOSS ROSE.

The angel of the flowers one day,
Beneath a rose tree sleeping lay—
That spirit to whose charge 'tis given
To bathe young buds in dew of heaven.
Awaking from his light repose,
The angel whispered to the rose:
"Oh, fondest object of my care,
Still fairest flower, where all are fair;
For the sweet shade thou giv'st to me
Ask what thou wilt, 'tis granted thee."
"Then," said the rose, with deepened glow,
"On me another grace bestow."
The spirit paused, in silent thought,
What grace was there that flower had not?
"Twas but a moment—'er the rose
A well of moss the angel throws,
And, robed in nature's simplest weed,
Could there a flower that rose exceed?"

IN THE LITERARY FIELD.

IT is the picturesque which seems always to make the most powerful appeal to Maurice Hewlett, and his new book, "The Spanish Jade," offers rich opportunities for the pictorial and the passionate. Not a long story—it only covers an Englishman's horseback journey through Castile and is concerned with only half a dozen characters, but it is a swift little narrative, and intense, and most of all, pictorial. Esteban Vincas, the young villain who comes riding and singing into the first page, the perfectly composed young Englishman who meets him in the second chapter; Manuela, the dancer, who is the tragic heroine of the tale; and old and young, and the faithful and the faithless, and the faithful and the faithless, these are people of Mr. Hewlett's book; these, with their loves, their hatreds, loyalties and sacrifices, perils and evasions—for did not Manners manage to evade much which Fate seemed to have designed for him in that brief journey?

But outside the people of the book, is Spanish Castile as it revealed itself to this author's ardent sensibility. There are pages glowing with the beauty of the land; its color, its sunshine, its hopelessness, its ancientness. And the Spanish temperament, the primitive point of view, fascinates him no less. The pages on Madrid is a temptation to quote entire, so rich are they in impressions of the strange foreign beauty. And the chapter on the trial suggests such different standards; a mode of thinking and feeling so remote from the here and now.

Yes, it is a brilliant little book; not so important a work as the one which preceded it, a few months ago, "The Stoop-Lady," but one which has a distinct value in the gallery of the world of romance which Mr. Hewlett is hanging with such rich and sumptuous pictures of persons and places; visions of beauty interpreted by the soul of an artist in literature.

An attractive feature of the book-making of the little volume is the decorative end papers.

"MR. CREWE'S CAREER."

In his notable new story, "Mr. Crewe's Career," Winston Churchill returns to the region in which he laid the scenes of "Coniston" two years ago and to the same general theme, the corporation-controlled politics of a New England state. The state, of course, is New Hampshire, though the book names it not, and the autocratic corporation is the Boston & Maine railroad—here called the Northern Consolidated—which, as Mr. Churchill's own actual political career revealed, has surpassed all others, anywhere, in securing and maintaining absolute control, legislative, executive and judicial, of an American commonwealth. The period of the story is the present day, thirty years after the death of the last Boss, the picturesque rural boss of "Coniston." Many of the incidents are actual; indeed a New Hampshire correspondent of the New York Herald has plausibly identified the originals of most of the characters.

Humphrey Crewe is a young millionaire, ambitious, serious-minded and inordinately conceited; who enters politics with the paternal idea of reforming and improving the whole state. In part, Mr. Crewe's legislative experience is declared to be identical with that of Mr. Churchill himself.

The author is so much absorbed in the political purpose of his story that the love interest becomes secondary, but his heroine, the daughter of the president of the railway that has usurped the governmental functions of the state, is charmingly portrayed. Indeed all of Mr. Churchill's characters are presented with such definiteness, such humor and such masterly appreciation of essentials that they linger in the mind with the clearness of actual persons.

A GREAT AMERICAN INVENTION.

When the young man who invented the first practicable machine for reaping wheat cut his first grain with his invention he never had seen the prairies, the great flat fields which his work was destined to transform into the bread-grains of the world. He was a boy, amid the Virginian hills, and he inherited the inventive quest that made him a millionaire and gave the world an instrument which, more than any other human contrivance, has banished famine from the nations of the earth. Without the mechanical reaper, the harvesting of wheat was limited to small areas—too small for the unlimited areas of hunger. The mechanical reaper made bread plentiful. In the very year that Cyrus H. McCormick was born, his father, possessed of a knack for mechanical, began experimenting with a reaping machine. Twenty-two years afterward the son succeeded where the father had failed, and the father was the first to recognize the success. But, like all radical departures from the familiar course, McCormick's invention met with disregard and with open opposition. Within ten years from that first demonstration of Cyrus McCormick's clumsy first machine the number of reapers built and sold was—as considered from this time of day—amazingly small. It was not until the determined inventor, searching for backers to help him develop his epochal idea, went westward to Indiana and Illinois and discovered the prairies, that the possibilities of the reaper were revealed, and its claims found a secure foothold.

The story of McCormick is only a part of the history which Herbert N. Casson has written to the title, "The Romance of the Reaper." The stories of Deering and of Whiteley are scarcely less interesting and the story of the American harvesting machine's conquest of foreign lands and of the Great West is as readable as a novel.

DAINTY DISHES MADE OF HERBS. Dandelion, Sorrel and Mint Served in the Same Way as Spinach.

How few city housekeepers know the delicacy of stewed dandelions. They are quite as good as spinach, excellent blood purifiers and may be had for the picking. After blossoming the dandelion grows tough and bitter, but in the early spring and summer it is worthy a place on any table. Gather in the morning while fresh from the dew. Wash thoroughly, then let stand in cold water for an hour or two to crisp and freshen. Drain, put into a saucepan, cover with boiling water, cook twenty minutes or longer, if rather large, then turn into a colander. Drain, pressing free from moisture. Chop; put a generous spoonful butter or olive oil in the frying pan, and when hot, add a tablespoonful flour. Blend, add the leaves, broth, toss and shake until thoroughly heated, then dress on a warm dish and serve hot with a garnish of hard-boiled eggs quartered.

Dandelions With Bacon—Place a half peck of well cleaned dandelions in a saucepan over the fire, cover with boiling water and cook ten minutes. Drain in a colander, return to the saucepan, cover barely with fresh boiling water, add a pound of bacon, a teaspoonful of salt, a quarter teaspoonful of pepper, and if liked, a fine chopped onion. Cover and cook until the meat is tender and the greens nearly dry. Put the dandelions on a warm dish, cut the bacon in thin slices and lay in rings about the mound of greens. Serve with boiled potatoes.

Boiled Dandelion With Sorrel—Gather equal quantities of fresh sorrel and dandelion leaves. Pick off all withered leaves, wash thoroughly, then put the dandelion over to cook in boiling salted water. When nearly tender, add the sorrel and simmer until the water is evaporated and the greens tender. Chop fine or mash with a wooden spoon, add a generous lump of butter, with salt and pepper to season, mound on a hot dish and garnish with toast points and poached eggs.

Young Beets and Beet Greens—Select for this purpose young beets no larger than an English walnut, and if you have your own garden thin out the young beets for greens. Otherwise use plenty of the tops, not more than six or seven inches in length. Wash thoroughly leaf by leaf, looking closely for insects and worms, but taking care not to break the tender skin of the beet. Cook quickly in boiling salted water until the beets are tender. Take out the beets and plunge in cold water, then rub off the skins between the fingers. Drain the green carefully, chop and season with salt, pepper, butter and a little lemon juice or vinegar. Very little acid, mind you, for it is a gastronomic mistake to deluge beets or greens with the sharp vinegar, as many cooks do. Arrange the greens, mound shape, on a hot dish, rub the yolk of a hard boiled egg over it, using a ricer or ordinary strainer. Slice the seasoned beets and arrange in a border about the greens, and you will have a pretty and most palatable dish.

Creamed Beets—The little tender new beets are nice creamed. Cook until tender in boiling salted water, skin and slice into the hot serving dish. Pour over them a cream sauce made by melting in a hot pan a tablespoonful butter, blending it with a tablespoonful flour, then adding a cupful thin cream with salt and pepper to taste. Cook until smooth, well blended and thickened, and serve hot.

Beet and Horseradish Sauce—Boil the beets in salted water until very tender. Skin and mash fine. Season with butter (melted), salted and pepper, then add grated horseradish to suit the palate. Add a little vinegar or lemon juice, stir well together and serve with cold meat.

Mint Sauce—In taking your walks abroad at this season bring home with you if you can a handful of mint from the brookside. To make the sauce that goes so excellently well with spring lamb or game, chop fine the well-washed leaves of a bunch of mint, then pour over them a half cup boiling water and add two level spoonfuls sugar. Cover and let stand in a cool place for an hour to fuse, then add a quarter of a teaspoonful salt, a dash of paprika, and four tablespoonfuls vinegar. Mix thoroughly and serve with the meat.

Mint Chutney—Add to a handful finely minced mint leaves a cup seeded raisins, two tablespoonfuls sugar, one of tomato catsup and a salt spoon of salt. Mash and mix until juicy, then serve in a boat with cold meats.

English Mint Sauce—The English make their mint sauce with the addition of broth or consommé. To a handful of the finely minced leaves they add a half cupful each of water and broth, then four tablespoonfuls vinegar, a tablespoonful salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. Mix well.

Meadow Mushrooms—Great care should be exercised not to confound the edible fungi from the poisonous Amanita, which it closely resembles. If there is any doubt, test before eating. Fast Indian cooks, it is said, throw a silver coin in the water in which mushrooms are cooked. If the metal turns black with a coating of rust, they condemn the fungi as poisonous; but if it retains its color, it is absolutely safe to use. The simplest way of cooking mushrooms is the best. Peel or wipe the caps with a damp cloth or a dry one dipped in salt. The method of cleansing depends upon the state of the mushroom. If gathered carefully in clean pastures, the dry wiping will be all that is necessary, as washing takes away much of the delicate flavor. Never cook mushrooms in iron, but in porcelain or agate. The root of the stalk should be cut off but the stalks of small mushrooms may be left on and cooked with the flap, if for a stew. Otherwise save them for a sauce to serve with beefsteaks or to flavor an omelet or beef steak. In the large mushrooms, the stalks are best discarded. For a stew, put the mushrooms in a saucepan with a liberal allowance of butter and let them stand ten minutes to draw out the juice. Then add as much rich milk or cream as there is mushroom liquor, simmer gently six minutes, season with salt and pepper, and serve on delicately browned slices of toast.

Money-Making Ways of Using Want Ads

To Get an Employee

Serious business—this hunt for capable men and women. Some consider it trifling. But it has been worth the while of a Field, a Ward, a Swift, a Wanamaker—it is worth your while. Wise organization spells "Success." "Pick" your employees—the ones that bring in the dollars. Make it one of your habits to run over daily, the "Situation Wanted" ads on our Classified page. Or, better still, when you want a particular employee, write a little Want Ad, stating just what you want and insert it under the heading "Help Wanted." And the results come to you in your private office—away from the crowd of the unemployed. The cost is but a few pennies. Think of it!

EXAMPLES

CONFIDENTIAL EMPLOYER WANTED—YOUNG married man of about 25 years can find in this house a rare opportunity to prove his fitness. Must be high grade, clean, and of good reputation. State references. Address #11 60, this office.

BOOKKEEPER WANTED AT ONCE BY A LARGE dry goods firm in this city. Want steady, sober man who is capable of growth into something better. Age about 25. State experience and references. Address #11 60, this office.

This is a day of RESULTS. The "make good" people are the VALUABLE ones. Our time calls for DEFINITE, earnest work that something shall be DONE. This is the spirit back of our Want Ads. Users get RESULTS, quick, in a definite way—WHEN they want them, and WHERE they want them. It will pay YOU to keep up a habit of READING—and USING our Classified page.

A GOULD DRESSMAKER SUES

THE BILL SUBMITTED BY MRS. OSBORN IS FOR $20,750.

Howard Gould Refuses to Pay Because He Says That Since His Separation From His Wife He is Providing Only "Necessaries."

NEW YORK, April 1.—What does it cost a year for the "necessaries" of a woman? This is a question that a jury and a supreme court judge are to decide soon. Whether the "necessaries" include a wardrobe that costs upward of $20,000 in considerably less than a year, or bare living expenses, with perhaps a printed cotton gown or two, is the problem that must be decided by the thirteen men. Much interest must attach to the decision, as it may bring to some better halves a legal diction that they are entitled to much more than they are at present receiving in the way of wearing apparel.

MRS. JOSEFA N. OSBORN, WHO HAS SUED HOWARD GOULD FOR $20,750 ON A DRESS-MAKING BILL.

A suit against Howard Gould—another of the several that have been brought against him since his separation from his wife—gives the basis for the query. In a legal action brought by the Mrs. Osborn company of which Mrs. Josefa Neilson Osborn is president, and leading designer to people of fashion, the allegation is made that Mrs. Gould purchased from the plaintiff $20,750 worth of gowns and accessories in a period of nine months, and that she was entitled to do so on her husband's credit under his legal requirements, even if he or she were living apart at the time.

Entry of the case was made in October of last year, but nothing has been made public before this. The lawsuit may in some way explain the advertisements Howard Gould had printed disclaiming responsibility for any debts of his wife. The third and last notice was printed only a fortnight ago, some months after he was served with notice of the Mrs. Osborn company's suit.

In answer to the complaint, made through his attorneys, Mr. Gould asserts that he is not responsible for this dress-making bill of his wife's as at "the specified time in the complaint and bill attached his wife was living apart and separate from him, while he was providing for her 'necessaries' in the way of maintenance."

DECREE FOR HELEN MALONEY?

The Evidence in the Annulment Suit of the Elopement Heir Is.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Daniel F. Cohalan, referee in the annulment suit of Helen Maloney, eloping heiress, against Arthur H. Osborn, to whom she was married December 26, 1906, has completed the hearing of the evidence and soon will file a report in the supreme court. It is understood the evidence has been such as to make possible three decisions—one annulling the marriage, another against annulment and a third that there never was any marriage to annul, hence no necessity for a decree.

Miss Maloney and her family hope the referee will find there never was any marriage. She is now at her home in Philadelphia with her parents and recently has appeared in public for the first time since her elopement with Samuel Clarkson, the young Englishman, to whom she expects to be married in the event of the supreme court declaring her free to wed.

The City's Shops Open Again. SEBASTIA, Mo., April 1.—Work was resumed at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas shops this morning after they had been closed ten days. Nearly 500 persons are on the payroll. The Missouri Pacific shops employing 800 have been closed since February 20. Nothing is known as to when they will reopen.

More Improvement for Unmarrieds. LEXINGTON, April 1.—The bulletin issued this morning regarding the condition of Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is as follows: "The prime minister passed a good night and slept well. His general condition is more comfortable."

Burglars Stole Hams and Tobacco. The grocery store of W. W. Zane, 625 Colorado avenue, Kansas City, Kas., was robbed last night. Ten hams and about thirty pounds of tobacco were taken.

KANSAS KILLED BY A FLYWHEEL

The Body of Roy Chapin of Lyons Found in an Electric Light Plant.

LYONS, Kas., April 1.—Roy Chapin, electrician at the Lyons electric light plant, was almost instantly killed last night by the big flywheel of the engine.

The accident was not discovered until this morning about 4 o'clock, when his father noticed that he was not in his room at home. He and a brother went at once to the electric light plant to see what was the matter and found him lying dead by the engine with his skull badly fractured.

BROKERS AFRAID OF BOMBS

The Police Warn the Consolidated Stock Exchange Against Anarchists.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Following the receipt from police headquarters of a warning that evidence had been obtained that an anarchistic attack might be made upon the members of the exchange, the Consolidated Stock exchange has decided to close its galleries. Similar warnings are said to have been sent to officials of the other exchanges, including the Cotton exchange and the New York Stock exchange.

An official of the latter institution, however, would not admit that any warning has been received from police headquarters. The gallery of the Stock exchange has been closed for a month or more. The Cotton exchange gallery has been closed since Monday. In the case of both these exchanges the excuse was given that repairs were to be made.

The gallery of the Consolidated Stock exchange has been much visited since the Stock exchange closed its gallery to the public, but the only precaution taken by the Consolidated has been to put another special policeman on duty.

READ OUT OF THE HOBBO PARTY.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Dr. Ben L. Reimann, organizer and leader of the recent parade of the unemployed through Chicago streets, who has turned his attention from the exploitation of hobo to securing a place for Emma Goldman to speak, got into trouble last night with his old friends of the hobo brotherhood.

At a meeting of bona fide representatives of the great hobo army held in a vacant room in the old Gault house in West Madison street, Dr. Reimann was read out of the hobo party. The assistant chief of police, Mr. Schuetler, who has been watching the movements of Dr. Reimann and other Anarchist sympathizers, was notified officially that resolutions had been adopted at the meeting, which was attended by fifty hoboes.

The resolutions are as follows: WHEREAS, Dr. Ben L. Reimann, self-styled king of the hoboes, has conducted himself in a manner unbecoming any member of the hobo party in allying himself with the anarchist movement; and WHEREAS, Dr. Reimann has now deserted us and is hitting the road openly with Emma Goldman, the anarchist queen; therefore, be it resolved, That we, the representatives of the hobo unemployed, do hereby renounce forever our allegiance to said Reimann, and the public is hereby notified that he is no longer recognized as our leader.

Residents of the Colonade, the Harbor Lights, the Friendship and the municipal lodging houses attended the meeting. They are the men who helped in the Reimann parade and formed the nucleus of the hobo dinner in the Windsor-Clifton hotel last winter.

Cincinnati Fat, who is known from coast to coast as one overland traveler, made the speech of the meeting. He denounced Reimann in these words: "This Reimann says he was a hobo for eighteen years. I don't believe it. To be a full fledged hobo a man must hit the road so often. Now spring is coming, and it is the time to hit the road. What is he doing? Bumping around Minneapolis with this Goldman woman and stirring up trouble for the police."

HER AFFINITY WAS A LUXURY.

A 22-Year-Old Philadelphia Girl Says Her 52-Year-Old Suit Cost $3,000.

NEW YORK, April 1.—If the alleged indebtedness of John Ames Barham, a New York promoter, aged 52, to Miss May Heavlow, a Philadelphia blonde beauty, aged 22, were itemized, it would read exactly as follows, according to the fair claimant:

John Ames Barham (affinity) to Miss May Heavlow, Dr. Reimann's son, $250
Clothes for affinity, $250
Jewelry for affinity, $250
Location of affinity's son, $250
Miscellaneous loans to affinity, $1,750
Total cost of soul companion, $3,000
(Note—He wasn't worth it.—M. H.)

Miss Heavlow came to this city to-day for the purpose of bringing suit against the man whom she accuses of deceiving her and getting her money. She has retained an attorney and will ask the aid of the law to recover her fortune. At the same time, she declares, she will bring suit against Barham's wife for defamation of character.

LOAN SHARKS CAUSED HIS FALL.

A Chicago Conductor Caught About to Rob a Safe to Pay Debts.

CHICAGO, April 1.—A remarkable scheme to rob the safe in the office of the Chicago railways' barn was spoiled by detectives yesterday, just as it was nearing fruition.

Michael B. Croft, a 17-year-old extra conductor employed by the company, was arrested as he was about to finish boring a passage from a deserted storeroom into the office where stood the safe containing nearly $3,000.

After confessing his guilt to the police, Croft blamed loan sharks for his fall. He said they had him in such a tight place that he had to get money some way. Of his last month's salary—$16.50—the sharks got $15.

TO MOVE THE "AMEN CORNER." Four plush settees which have been in the "amen corner" of the Fifth Avenue hotel for the last twenty-five years have been turned over by the hotel proprietors to the members of what is popularly known as the "Amen Corner Corporation."

At a meeting of the members Monday, it was stated, the question of relocating the famous seats will be considered, their removal from the Fifth Avenue hotel having been necessitated by the demolition of that structure. The statement is made that there is not a President for forty years, a governor of any great state, a notable United States senator, a distinguished foreign ambassador or a renowned American diplomat who has not occupied at one time or another one of those four "amen corner" seats.

THE DUCHESS SPOKE WELL BUT CONSUELO'S COSTUME WAS THE BEST FEATURE OF HER TOAST.

Guests at the Mrs. Humphry Ward Dinner Most Interested in the Ex-American's Gown and Jewels—Topics of New York.

NEW YORK, April 1.—The Duchess of Marlborough wore a light blue satin princess, embroidered with gold and further ornamented with silver tinsel draped from the shoulders. A diamond crescent flashed in her coiffure. Around her throat was a diamond dog collar and her famous rope of pearls. Long white kid gloves made up all the rest of her costume that a man might remember.

It is important that these details be placed right at the beginning of this story, because the fact that the duchess wore some of her best clothes was a matter of the keenest interest to 300 or 400 women who attended the first annual dinner of the Playground Association of America, given at the Waldorf Astoria last night in honor of Mrs. Humphry Ward.

The principal speakers at the banquet were three women—Mrs. Humphry Ward, the guest of honor, the Duchess of Marlborough and Jane Addams, the social settlement worker of Chicago. Mrs. Ward and Miss Addams, from long experience as platform speakers, acquitted themselves with the certainty and ease of veteran after-dinner orators of the swallow tail coat sex; while the Duchess of Marlborough, though a trifle nervous from less practice at the game, got through her address in a manner that won her plenty of applause.

The big banquet room of the Waldorf blazed with diamonds and perhaps that was the reason that five able bodied sleuths from headquarters, unsuccessfully disguised in evening clothes, prowled suspiciously about. But it was a dinner where the extremes of costumes obtained. Settlement workers in the plainest of black gowns, women who work every day among the children of the East side, touched elbows or perhaps exchanged a word or two with a neighbor whose silk empire or princess with its mineral splendors could not have set her back less than the price of a house and lot.

DIED LAUGHING AT AN APRIL 1 JOKE.

Overcome by laughter at a joke told by a member of the company at a tea she was attending, Mrs. Anna Ferrer, a widow, 42 years old, was unable to stop the laughing paroxysm. She fell to the floor, was lifted back into her chair gasping for breath, and before the horrified guests realized that anything serious was the matter she was dying. Before a physician who was summoned could reach the house she was dead.

RICH GUESTS WASH THEIR OWN LINGERIE.

It was wasteful, ill bred, disgusting and a sure sign of a "tightwad" for a woman of wealth to wash her silk hosiery and lingerie in her bath tub, according to the management of the Hotel Gotham.

Therefore, the management of the hotel is debating whether to give its millionaire patronesses a gentle tip in the shape of a petition against such "unladylike" practices.

No names are mentioned—of course not. The management does not deem it dare to expose the women who have the clothes cleaning idea. A petition requesting them to patronize the hotel laundry, and by so doing cut down exorbitant plumbers bills for digging lint out of stopped up bath tub pipes, will be sufficient, it is said.

A report of the management said that the soap which the hotel provided for its guests costs $3 a cake. It is toilet soap, to be used for removing dust from faces and hands, not from soiled pieces of feminine attire.

Then there are plumbers' bills. Chambermaids kick too. Lastly, bath tubs are not laundry tubs, toilet soap is not laundry soap, and chambermaids are not laundry tub scrubbers.

BEAUFORT OFFERS TO SUPPORT BOTH WIVES. Michael Briefer, when brought before Judge Foster in the court of general sessions on a charge of bigamy, startled the court by agreeing to support both wives and their children. Briefer had two children by his first wife, Mrs. Evelyn Briefer. He married Miss Mary Galle of Brooks Grove, N. Y., in November, 1905, and had a child by her.

Judge Foster ordered Briefer to pay his first wife $7 a week and his second wife $3. Sentence will be passed to-day. Briefer explained that he earned from $20 to $30 a week as a photographer and was willing to take care of both women so far as he was able. He was directed to file a bond to guarantee the payment of the amounts each week.

HIGH FINANCE IN LITTLE ITALY

and olive skinned Italians when the case was called this morning. The defendant was Antonio Lamantia, who was charged by Mariano Brancato with having embezzled $58. The two men were sent to

"Joe" Deo was there in Brancato's interests and "Joe" Damico was on hand to assist the state to see that Lamantia got a square deal.

"He took a five-a-dollar-a-week-a-liv-a-on," Brancato said. "Eles brother was a lawyer, shoes and watches. I getta no mon from no one."

All the attorneys and Italians tried to talk at once and Justice Miller had a hard time to keep order. He was unable to stop Brancato at all and just let him keep on talking. When Brancato did run out of words and breath, Deo broke in.

"You talk more than the lawyers, judge and President of the United States," Deo told him. "You talk too much."

didn't care. He had sold a a little interest in a grocery store to Laman-tia and had received no money. His trade, he said, had been ruined and he owed money. He had to get even with somebody.

"Partners cannot steal from each other,"
 Justice Miller said. The circuit court is full of cases where one man furnished experience and the other man the money. You have not proved that Lamanita took any of your money. Defendant is discharged."

SATTERLEE, THE ARTIST, DEAD.

The American Painter Gained a Marked success at Figure Work.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Walter Satterlee, the artist, died at his home, 148 East Eighteenth street, yesterday after a year's illness. Mr. Satterlee was 65 years old. He was an associate member of the National Academy of Design, the Water Color society and many other institutions. The funeral service will be held at St. George's church, 55 East square, at 10.30 o'clock next Monday.
 He is survived by Dr. F. Leroy Satterlee, a brother, and Mrs. William H. Willis, a sister.

Mr. Satterlee was chiefly known for his figure painting and genre work, and many examples from his brush are to be found in the principal collections here and abroad. He was very successful in portraits.

FREEDOM FOR SAVING OFFICERS

Veka, Who Prevented Bargar Throwing Nitro-Glycerin, Rewarded.

For preventing an attempt to murder two police officers, Ernest Veka, a Mexican, was given his liberty by Judge Kyle in police court this morning. When Sergeants Patrick Clarke and Holly Jarboe and Patrolman Joseph Enright went to the room of Thelma De Brantley Tuesday night to arrest Frank Hart and William Riley for safe blowing, Hart attempted to throw a bottle of nitro-glycerin at the officers, but Veka caught the bottle from his hands. Thelma De Brantley was fined $50 in police court this morning.

g. Hart and Riley have been held for trial in the criminal court charged with burglary in the first degree.

HUCKLEBERRIES OR CHERRIES FOR STUFFING—IT'S NOT HARD TO TAKE

Strawberries Still Water Soaked, but There's Plenty of Other Fruit in the Market—Plenty of Vegetables, Too—Marrows and Peas in.

A top layer and a bottom layer of tender, delicious, butter shorted crust. Stuff huckleberries or cherries in between and serve warm. And, as Freck, the messenger, says, "You won't have to put it in capsules to take it." The cherries were here last week, but they're still here and cheaper, only 20 cents a quart box. And the huckleberries are brand new—20 and 25 cents a box.

Strawberries were mentioned to the market man. He sighed. "Blame this rain," he said, "it's certainly knocking the life out of the strawberries. They're 15 cents a box now and going higher. Nice ones, though. Let me see. Want any gooseberries for Sunday dinner? Two boxes for a quarter, or bananas at 30 cents, or navel oranges at from 40 to 60 cents a dozen? Lemons are 25 cents a dozen. It's cheaper to buy limes, they're 20 cents and contain a lot more sourness.

"How do you like it?" The market man was holding up a large pineapple.

AN ALLIGATOR PEAR? ONLY 50 CENTS.

"Peach, isn't it? Twenty cents apiece. Alligator pears are a little higher. You can buy one for 50 cents if you don't care what you do with your money."

The market man led the way to the vegetable stalls. "Lots of stuff here this week, and it's cheaper. Here's something new—Marrows and peas. They're home grown and as sweet as sugar. Price? Two quarts for 25 cents. Asparagus, white and green, retains the price of two bunches for 15 cents. New beets are 5 cents a bunch, green and wax beans can be bought for 10 cents a quart. Cauliflower sells for 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents a head while cabbage is 10 cents a head. Lettuce this week is 5 cents a head, egg plant costs 20 cents, carrots and chives are 5 cents a bunch, green onions are 5 and 10 cents a bunch, while radishes, round red ones, are 5 cents a bunch or three for 10 cents.

TEXAS TOMATOES IN NOW.

"By the way, Texas tomatoes are in now. They're 20 cents a pound or 65 cents for a 5-pound basket. New potatoes and old have the same price—35 cents a peck. Parsley is 5 cents a bunch and peppers cost 5 and 10 cents. Spinach is 20 cents a peck.

"Why is it everyone always howls about the price of eggs?" the market man asked. "They're only 20 cents a dozen. Good butter is 30 cents a pound.

"Just happened to think of it. Did you ever notice how good a leg of lamb tastes at this time of year? Twenty cents a pound now and the mint costs 5 cents a bunch. Hens are 15 cents a pound, while spring chickens cost from 18 to 20 cents a pound. Broilers can be purchased for 50, 60 and 70 cents, and just as a last reminder, sugar is fifteen pounds for a dollar."

WIDELY KNOWN CHICAGOAN ILL.

Several Times Recently John F. Finerty's Life Has Been Despaired Of.

CHICAGO, May 29.—John F. Finerty, ex-United States Representative from Chicago, and one of Chicago's widely known Irish citizens, is dangerously ill. He has been confined at home since last December. Several times his life has been despaired of, but each time he has rallied. In the last few days, however, he has been failing rapidly.

Mr. Finerty is 62 years old. In 1882 he was elected to Congress from Chicago. He is an orator and a writer as well as a politician. He saw service not only in the Civil war, but in two Fenian raids on Canada and under General Miles in the campaign against the Sioux Indians. He was president for many years of the United Irish League of America.

BOWLING ALLEYS ON TRAINS.

Officials of the Burlington Road to Introduce a Novelty.

OMAHA, May 29.—Bowling on board through Chicago, Burlington & Quincy trains is the latest luxury officials of that railway system propose to give its patrons. The officials say that it is not practicable to play billiards on a fast train, but they affirm that bowling is perfectly practicable and they propose to equip some of the trains in the West with bowling alleys. They argue that bowling is a popular game and affords excellent exercise for passengers.

MAY EXHUME A GIRL'S BODY

There May Be a Mystery in a Princeton Death.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 29.—Developments of the last few days have led Prosecutor George Berdine to suspect that the death of Miss Bertha Vanderbilt, an assistant librarian of the Princeton university library, was not the result of an accident, and Mr. Berdine has begun an investigation.

Miss Vanderbilt was the daughter of a jeweler of Amsterdam, N. Y., and her body was taken to that city for burial. Mr. Berdine is said to be of the opinion that the county physician and coroner who allowed the body to be buried acted too hastily and may demand that it be exhumed for an autopsy to determine the cause of Miss Vanderbilt's death.

It is probable that Mr. Berdine will ask for an order of the supreme court permitting an autopsy. Detective Frank Hoffman has been assigned to investigate the case for the prosecutor, beginning at a point where the coroner's inquiry ended.

Miss Vanderbilt was last seen alive May 13, and her body was found five days later in the Raritan canal some distance from Princeton village. There were bruises on the face and head, but it was believed that these were due to an accidental fall into the water. No autopsy was held, and the father of the young woman, who came from Amsterdam, was quoted as saying that he was satisfied that the girl's death was accidental.

Just what has prompted Mr. Berdine to reopen the case after the other authorities have convinced themselves that there was no grounds for suspicion has not been made known. It is said, however, that Miss Vanderbilt's conduct on the afternoon of her death indicated that she had an appointment with someone in the vicinity of the place where her body was found, and in addition to this, there is nothing to explain how her body got into the canal.

WARSHIPS BACK TO FRISCO.

The First Division of the Atlantic Fleet Preparing for Next Long Voyage.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—With the return of the first division of the Atlantic battle ship fleet to San Francisco Sunday, warship row will assume an animated appearance once more. The four battle ships, the flagship Connecticut and the Kansas, Vermont and Louisiana, which left Tacoma yesterday, are expected to arrive here not later than Sunday morning, and will resume their former positions in the lines extending westward from Goat island. The time of the arrival of other portions of the fleet from the northern waters is not definitely known, but all of the fleet will be assembled here for several days before the date of sailing for Honolulu July 7.

The cruiser South Dakota of the Pacific squadron will leave here some time today for Santa Barbara and San Pedro, and will remain for some time cruising in Southern waters. The battle ship Missouri left the line beyond Goat island yesterday and proceeded to Mare island, and for the first time in the history of that station a ship of the class of the Missouri anchored alongside the quay wall. The maneuver necessary to bring the big warship alongside the quay was performed without difficulty, thus disproving the statement that first class battle ships cannot be docked at Mare island.

There are no official entertainments planned for the officers or men of the Atlantic fleet during the time of their second sojourn in San Francisco, but numerous unofficial entertainments of a social nature have been arranged.

WARNING WRITTEN IN BLOOD

A CHICAGO PRIEST AND LAWYER THREATENED WITH DEATH.

The Destruction of a Catholic Church With Dynamite Is Also Foretold in an Anonymous Letter—The Probable Cause.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Father Peter J. O'Callaghan, head of the Paulist order in Chicago, and Attorney Francis E. Hinckley have been informed through an anonymous letter, written in blood and wrapped in crepe, that they have been marked for death by mysterious enemies, and St. Mary's church, Wabash avenue and Hubbard court, has been doomed to be blown up by dynamite.

The threatening letter had been dropped by an unknown hand into the poor box at St. Mary's church, of which Father O'Callaghan is pastor. It was unsigned and undressed. On one side was a crudely drawn picture of a skull and cross bones.

Death to the priest and the lawyer was threatened, it is believed, as the result of their efforts to obtain a pardon for Herman Rillek, under sentence to hang June 12 in the Cook county jail on a charge of murdering, by poison, six members of the Vrzal family. A chemical analysis proved that the red fluid in which the letter was written was blood, and not red ink.

Father O'Callaghan declared to-day that he would lay the letter before Governor Deneen in the hope that it would induce the governor to pardon Rillek.

Father O'Callaghan and Mr. Hinckley drew a confession from Jerry Vrzal a few months ago that he had given perjured testimony against Rillek at the trial. By this means they succeeded in bringing Rillek's case before the pardon board. The board sat with Governor Deneen in extraordinary session and examined the evidence. The investigation led the governor to reprieve Rillek and to advance the date of his death to June 12.

TO CLOSE DANGEROUS THEATERS

Chicago Playhouses Will Be Forced to Observe Safety Precautions.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Twenty Chicago theaters are confronted with the closing of their doors by the police unless they comply at once with the provisions of the ordinance for safety of life and limb in public gatherings.

Commissioner Downey of public buildings has held up the issuance of licenses to the theaters, and if the orders are not observed within a reasonable time, Chief Shippy of the police will be ordered to stop the performances.

The annual inspection of playhouses, which has just been completed, shows that many of the managers persistently violate the law enacted after the lesson of the Iroquois theater holocaust. Unless constantly watched they crowd an unlawful number of chairs into the balconies and galleries, narrow the aisles and leave exits unprotected by fireproof doors.

The licenses of fifty-five theaters have also been held up for similar reasons.

HOW A PRIZE FIGHT WAS LOST.

The Second of a Tacoma Boxer Gave Him a Drink of Ammonia.

TACOMA, WASH., May 29.—At a series of boxing bouts last night, A. Slossberg, a sailor on the New Jersey, who is the heavyweight champion of the navy, and Victor McLaglen, a local boxer, were scheduled to fight ten rounds. In the rest between the fourth and fifth rounds McLaglen suddenly got up from his corner and ran to the ropes, apparently in agony. He was unable to respond to the call of time. Amidst the confusion it was learned that one of his seconds had given him a drink out of the ammonia bottle instead of water. The fight was given to the sailor, and bets were declared off.

Taft to Speak in Connecticut.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Secretary Taft left this morning for Norwich, Conn., where he will deliver an address to-night to the board of trade. To-morrow he will be the orator at the memorial exercises at Grant's tomb in New York.

NOW'S THE TIME FOR PIE

HUCKLEBERRIES OR CHERRIES FOR STUFFING—IT'S NO HARD TAKE

Strawberries Still Water Soaked, but There's Plenty of Other Fruit in the Market—Plenty of Vegetables, Too—Marrowfat Peas in.

A top layer and a bottom layer of tender, delicious, butter shortened crust. Stuff huckleberries or cherries in between and serve warm. And, as Freck, the messenger, says, "You won't have to put it in capsules to take it." The cherries were here last week, but they're still here and cheaper, only 20 cents a quart box. And the huckleberries are brand new—20 and 25 cents a box.

Strawberries were mentioned to the market man. He sighed.

"Blame this rain," he said, "it's certainly knocking the life out of the strawberries. They're 15 cents a box now and going higher. Nice ones, though. Let me see. Want any gooseberries for Sunday dinner? Two boxes for a quarter, or bananas at 30 cents, or navel oranges at from 40 to 60 cents a dozen? Lemons are 25 cents a dozen. It's cheaper to buy limes, they're 20 cents and contain a lot more sourness.

"How do you like it?" The market man was holding up a large pineapple.

AN ALLIGATOR PEAR? ONLY 50 CENTS.

"Peach, isn't it? Twenty cents apiece. Alligator pears are a little higher. You can buy one for 50 cents if you don't care what you do with your money."

The market man led the way to the vegetable stalls. "Lots of stuff here this week, and it's cheaper. Here's something new—Marrowfat peas. They're home grown and as sweet as sugar. Price? Two quarts for 25 cents. Asparagus, white and green, retains the price of two bunches for 15 cents. New beets are 5 cents a bunch, green and wax beans can be bought for 10 cents a quart, cauliflower sells for 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents a head while cabbage is 10 cents a head. Lettuce this week is 5 cents a head, egg plant costs 20 cents, carrots and chives are 5 cents a bunch, green onions are 5 and 10 cents a large bunch, while radishes, round red ones, are 5 cents a bunch or three for 10 cents.

TEXAS TOMATOES IN NOW.

"By the way, Texas tomatoes are in now. They're 20 cents a pound or 65 cents for a 5-pound basket. New potatoes and old have the same price—35 cents a peck. Parsley is 5 cents a bunch and peppers cost 5 and 10 cents. Spinach is 20 cents a peck.

"Why is it everyone always howls about the price of eggs?" the market man asked. "They're only 20 cents a dozen. Good butter is 30 cents a pound."

"Just happened to think of it. Did you ever notice how good a leg of lamb tastes at this time of year? Twenty cents a pound now and the mint costs 5 cents a bunch. Hens are 15 cents a pound, while spring chickens cost from 18 to 20 cents a pound. Broilers can be purchased for 50, 60 and 70 cents, and just as a last reminder, sugar is fifteen pounds for a dollar."

WIDELY KNOWN CHICAGOAN ILL.

Several Times Recently John F. Finerty's Life Has Been Despaired Of.

CHICAGO, May 29.—John F. Finerty, ex-United States Representative from Chicago, and one of Chicago's widely known Irish citizens, is dangerously ill. He has been confined at home since last December. Several times his life has been despaired of, but each time he has rallied. In the last few days, however, he has been failing rapidly.

Mr. Finerty is 62 years old. In 1882 he was elected to Congress from Chicago. He is an orator and a writer as well as a politician. He saw service not only in the Civil war, but in two Fenian raids on Canada and under General Miles in the campaign against the Sioux Indians. He was president for many years of the United Irish League of America.

BOWLING ALLEYS ON TRAINS.

Officials of the Burlington Road to Introduce a Novelty.

OMAHA, May 29.—Bowling on board through Chicago, Burlington & Quincy trains is the latest luxury officials of that railway system propose to give its patrons. The officials say that it is not practicable to play billiards on a fast train, but they affirm that bowling is perfectly practicable and they propose to equip some of the trains in the West with bowling alleys. They argue that bowling is a popular game and affords excellent exercise for passengers.

MAY EXHUME A GIRL'S BODY

There May Be a Mystery in a Princeton Death.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 29.—Developments of the last few days have led Prosecutor George Berdine to suspect that the death of Miss Bertha Vanderbilt, an assistant librarian of the Princeton university library, was not the result of an accident, and Mr. Berdine has begun an investigation.

Miss Vanderbilt was the daughter of a jeweler of Amsterdam, N. Y., and her body was taken to that city for burial. Mr. Berdine is said to be of the opinion that the county physician and coroner who allowed the body to be buried acted too hastily and may demand that it be exhumed for an autopsy to determine the cause of Miss Vanderbilt's death.

It is probable that Mr. Berdine will ask for an order of the supreme court permitting an autopsy. Detective Frank Hoffman has been assigned to investigate the case for the prosecutor, beginning at a point where the coroner's inquiry ended.

Miss Vanderbilt was last seen alive May 13, and her body was found five days later in the Raritan canal some distance from Princeton village. There were bruises on the face and head, but it was believed that these were due to an accidental fall into the water. No autopsy was held, and the father of the young woman, who came from Amsterdam, was quoted as saying that he was satisfied that the girl's death was accidental.

Just what has prompted Mr. Berdine to reopen the case after the other authorities have convinced themselves that there was no grounds for suspicion has not been made known. It is said, however, that Miss Vanderbilt's conduct on the afternoon of her death indicated that she had an appointment with someone in the vicinity of the place where her body was found and, in addition to this, there is nothing to explain how her body got into the canal.

WARSHIPS BACK TO FRISCO.

The First Division of the Atlantic Fleet Preparing for Next Long Voyage.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—With the return of the first division of the Atlantic fleet ship to San Francisco Sunday, warship row will assume an animated appearance once more. The four battle ships, the flagship Connecticut and the Kansas, Vermont and Louisiana, which left Tacoma yesterday, are expected to arrive here not later than Sunday morning, and will resume their former positions in the line extending westward from Goat island. The time of the arrival of other portions of the fleet from the northern waters is not definitely known, but all of the fleet will be assembled here for several days before the date of sailing for Honolulu July 7.

The cruiser South Dakota of the Pacific squadron will leave here some time today for Santa Barbara and San Pedro, and will remain for some time cruising in Southern waters. The battle ship Missouri left the line beyond Goat island yesterday and proceeded to Mare island, and for the first time in the history of that station a ship of the class of the Missouri anchored alongside the quay wall. The maneuver necessary to bring the big warship alongside the quay was performed without difficulty, thus disproving the statement that first class battle ships cannot be docked at Mare island.

There are no official entertainments planned for the officers or men of the Atlantic fleet during the time of their second sojourn in San Francisco, but numerous unofficial entertainments of a social nature have been arranged.

WARNING WRITTEN IN BLOOD

A CHICAGO PRIEST AND LAWYER THREATENED WITH DEATH.

The Destruction of a Catholic Church With Dynamite Is Also Foretold in an Anonymous Letter—The Probable Cause.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Father Peter J. O'Callaghan, head of the Paulist order in Chicago, and Attorney Francis E. Hinckley have been informed through an anonymous letter, written in blood and wrapped in crepe, that they have been marked for death by mysterious enemies, and St. Mary's church, Wabash avenue and Hubbard court, has been doomed to be blown up by dynamite.

The threatening letter had been dropped by an unknown hand into the poor box at St. Mary's church, of which Father O'Callaghan is pastor. It was unsigned and unaddressed. On one side was a crudely drawn picture of a skull and cross bones.

Death to the priest and the lawyer was threatened, it is believed, as the result of their efforts to obtain a pardon for Herman Rillek, under sentence to hang June 12 in the Cook county jail on a charge of murdering, by poison, six members of the Vrzal family. A chemical analysis proved that the red fluid in which the letter was written was blood, and not red ink.

Father O'Callaghan declared to-day that he would lay the letter before Governor Deneen in the hope that it would induce the governor to pardon Rillek. Father O'Callaghan and Mr. Hinckley drew a confession from Jerry Vrzal a few months ago that he had given perjured testimony against Rillek at the trial. By this means they succeeded in bringing Rillek's case before the pardon board. The board sat with Governor Deneen in extraordinary session and examined the evidence. The investigation led the governor to reprieve Rillek and to advance the date of his death to June 12.

TO CLOSE DANGEROUS THEATERS

Chicago Playhouses Will Be Forced to Observe Safety Precautions.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Twenty Chicago theaters are confronted with the closing of their doors by the police unless they comply at once with the provisions of the ordinance for safety of life and limb in public gatherings.

Commissioner Downey of public buildings has held up the issuance of licenses to the theaters, and if the orders are not observed within a reasonable time, Chief Shippy of the police will be ordered to stop the performances.

The annual inspection of playhouses, which has just been completed, shows that many of the managers persistently violate the law enacted after the lesson of the Troika theater holocaust. Unless constantly watched they crowd an unlawful number of chairs into the balconies and galleries, narrow the aisles and leave exits unprotected by fireproof doors.

The licenses of fifty five-cent theaters have also been held up for similar reasons.

HOW A PRIZE FIGHT WAS LOST.

The Second of a Tacoma Boxer Gave Him a Drink of Ammonia.

TACOMA, WASH., May 29.—At a series of boxing bouts last night, A. Sloosberg, a sailor on the New Jersey, who is the heavyweight champion of the navy, and Victor McLaglen, a local boxer, were scheduled to fight ten rounds. In the rest between the fourth and fifth rounds McLaglen suddenly got up from his corner and ran to the ropes, apparently in agony. He was unable to respond to the call of time. Amidst the confusion it was learned that one of his seconds had given him a drink out of the ammonia bottle instead of water. The fight was given to the sailor, and bets were declared off.
